Foreword

Together We Grow . . .

. . . as a community, as a school, as individuals. Growth has been the keynote of life at H.H.S. this year. The sounds of construction workers and machinery at work have become as familiar to us as the bells which call us to class and dismiss us. We have watched the new addition to our school grow brick by brick. We have anticipated its completion and the additional educational opportunities it will offer us.

We as students have also grown. High school is a period of physical, mental, and intellectual growth for each of us. We grow through our studies, through our outside activities, and through our associations.

It is on this basis that we, the IRIS staff, have developed a yearbook - a record of the special good times we have had and the things we have done during the year. We hope that we have captured the year's highlights and have supplied a documentary of the growth of H. H. S. as we will always remember it.

Placing the cornerstone, an important tradition in any building project, became even more meaningful to members of the student body, as they witnessed their elected leaders lifting the stone into place.

A cheerful smile, a listening ear, a friendly word for everyone - these are the impressions that will always remain with the students who ever became acquainted with you, Mrs. Rinder. Few students did not belong to a class, a club, or an organization with which you were not associated. We knew you not only as a teacher but also as a very personal friend. If any of us had a problem or just wanted someone to talk to, we knew that you would always be willing to listen to whatever we had to say. There were times when we needed a pat on the back; you were always the first to give it to us. There were also times when we needed reprimanding, but this wasn't so bad when you were the one to reprimand us.

We hope that you will always remember us at H.H.S. with the fondness with which we shall always remember you. As a token of our gratitude, we dedicate this, the 1963 IRIS, to you with wishes for the very best and all the happiness that life can bring.

Because we in the high school are not associated with these people every day, we often forget how much they directly affect our lives and the education we receive at H.H.S. Under the able leadership of these people, our school has grown and expanded. They are the architects who draw up the plans and guides for our education. It is through their interest in us that we, the students of H.H.S., are able to boast of our fine school. These people work hard for us and for our school. To them we can only say "Thank you."

High School Personnel

The high school office is the hub of all activities at H.H.S. To some it represents a place where one must go to be disciplined. To most it represents a place where one willingly goes when he has a problem that he wishes to share. Students know that here they will always find a willing listener. The friendly atmosphere makes the office a very popular spot at H.H.S.

Lila Manville's friendly smile is familiar to all students at H.H.S. She is always ready to hear any problem or to help in any way she can. Lila, what would we ever do without you?

Like the carpenters who built the new addition to our school, the faculty of Highland High has worked hard to build the minds and bodies of the students. Their primary purpose is to train our minds; but, besides this, they are also the builders of our characters and the molders of our futures. Not only do they ungrudgingly sponsor our classes and our clubs, but they also generously give of their time to make Highland High a sturdier school from the inside out. They freely give assistance and offer advice whenever it is asked of them. Just as the bricklayers, electricians, architects, and carpenters put our school together piece by piece, so do our teachers work together to build each student at Highland High into a better and more complete person.

Custodians and Cafeteria Workers

These are the unheralded, behind-the-scenes workers who, uncomplaining, do their jobs, too often without praise or recognition. They, too, are an important part of our school. We depend so much upon their services. They serve us well, and we are proud of them.

Together We Grow

... Through Experiences

Throughout our high school days we grow and develop.
We grow . . .

. . . through everyday contacts . . .

With his God-given tools of intelligence, talents, and abilities, and the opportunity to develop them, a student must experiment, make an effort, try and try again in order to use his tools efficiently.

High school is the time for growth, for the laying of the foundation of future dreams, for drawing up the blueprints of his life, for building the framework of happiness.

... through studying ...

Marcia Miles and Barb Bloemker were part of the crew of bulletin board girls.

... through working ...

During high school, a student grows in many ways. Mental growth comes as each student puts forth his best. Learning to work and study well is one of the most important lessons that high school has to teach.

No matter how small the job, as each student does the best he knows how, he finds a feeling of accomplishment from knowing that he has done his job well.

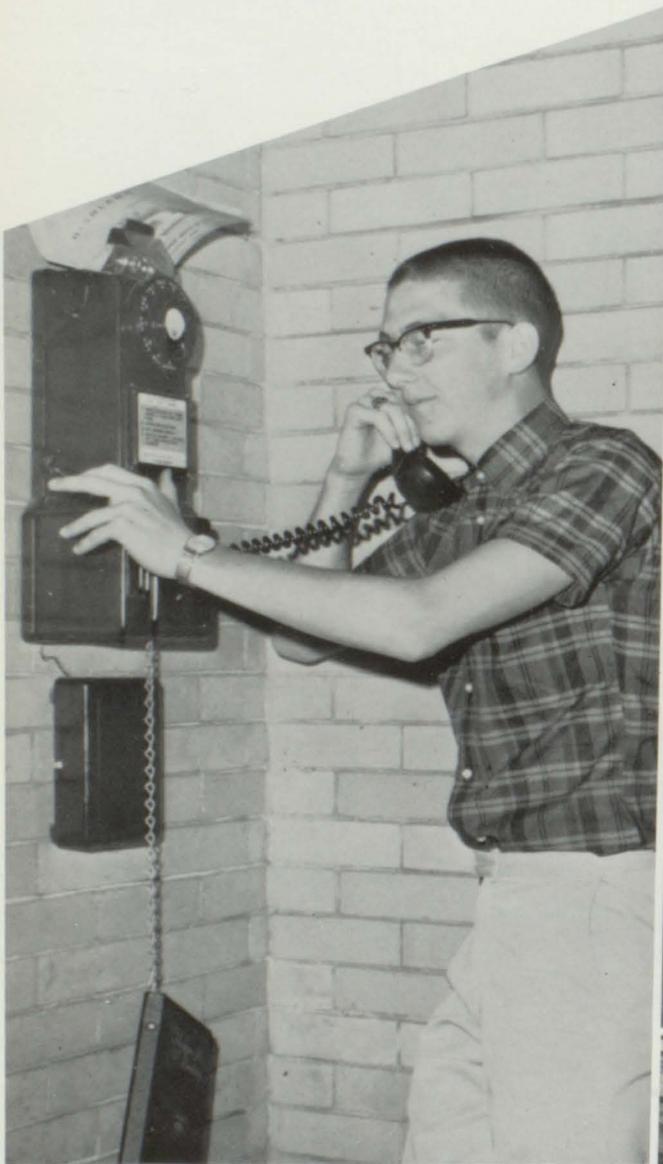

Don Merkle and David Aldrich clean up after performing an experiment in chemistry.

Students with a busy schedule welcome a study period.

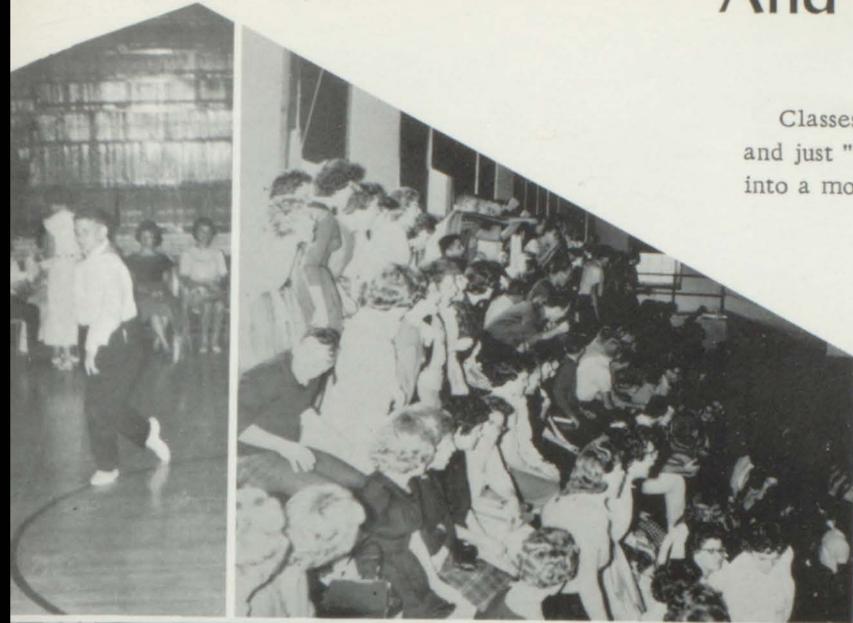

... through outside activities and through discipline!

Personality and character grow and strengthen through the extracurricular activities that the student participates in. Activities add another wall to the house of memorable events of high school.

And we develop . . .

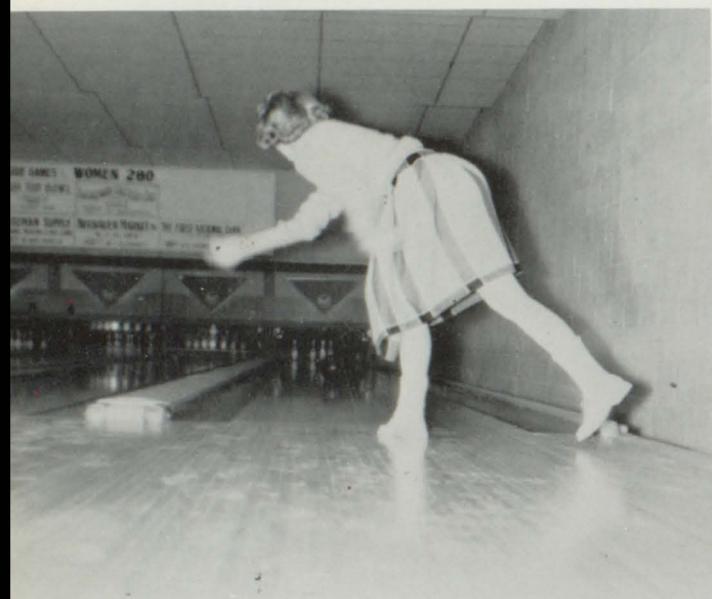

Classes, elections, plays, games, assemblies, and just "goofing off" all help a student to grow into a more complete individual.

... we develop stronger bodies ...

Boys' PE classes try out the parallel bars.

Pam Lory tries for a spare.

John Duft makes a toughie at the Greenville tourney.

Runners take a breather on track and field day.

... more astute minds ...

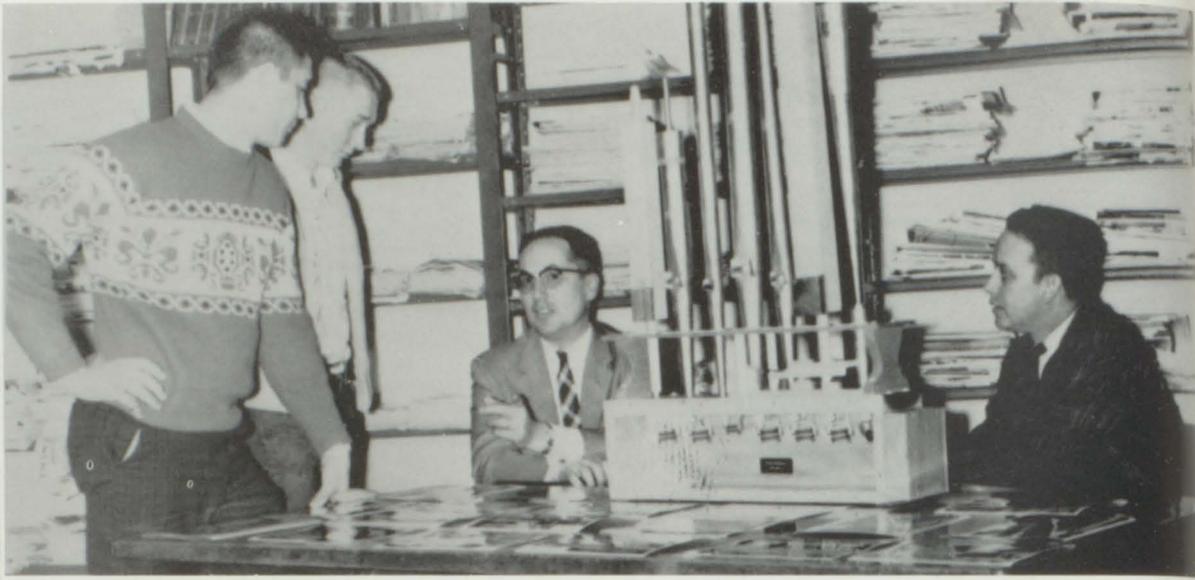

... closer friendships.

Of the many friendships that begin in high school, some will end as suddenly as high school itself; others will grow deeper and continue on and on. But each is another building block in life's mansion.

We obtain Knowledge . . .

Carl Ernst and J. R. Frey talk with the Highland manufacturers on career night.

Spanish ways are colorful and interesting, as shown . . .

During his four years of high school, a student has many experiences, creates many memories. He has much fun and many heartaches, but each contributes more to his knowledge of life. During these four years, a student obtains knowledge - not only the knowledge that comes from studying, but also knowledge of life and of people. He obtains understanding of others; he gains insight.

understanding.

Student Council elections are always an exciting time of year.

We sight our goal . . .

The foundation of life is laid. As he prepares to leave his life in high school, a student prepares to begin another life. He has attained a goal toward which he has been working for twelve years; but as he leaves, he has another goal in sight.

. . . a star far away . . .

we need only reach to attain.

Everybody loves a parade - especially the students at H.H.S. ! Members of classes and organizations put their heads together to think of a clever variation of this year's theme, "Fairytales." For the first time, this year, the Student Council-sponsored parade and coronation were both held in the fall.

The rewards of the weeks of thoughtful preparation were felt by all who had worked on the six floats that won recognition. The G.A.A. float, which always seems to profit by its strictly feminine touch, again took first in the beauty division. Second place was given to the newly formed Spanish Club, and third place went to the Art Club. In the originality division, the Senior Class took the cake, following the suit started last year as juniors. Second place was awarded to the hard-working Sophomores, and a joyous Freshman Class took third. Unfortunately, not every float could win a prize; but, even so, nothing could dampen the spirits of the kids at H.H.S. on this most rousing of all weekends!

The marching band was at its best and the crowd cheered when the perky twirlers "did their stuff." The coronation on Saturday night put the finishing touch on this exciting weekend.

The location of the 1963 Homecoming Coronation Ceremonies was not actually the high school gym, but Cinderella's castle. Here a capacity crowd awaited in hushed expectancy the entry of the retiring queen, Gail Schott, which would officially mark the start of the ceremony. They waited and whispered, speculating as to who the new queen would be. Here the "Bulldog Court" paid their homage to the retiring and to the reigning royalty of H. H. S. The procession of beautifully attired girls and their handsome escorts surpassed any ever held before at Highland High. Each girl nervously but gracefully did the bows that she had been practicing for so long. The crowd gasped at the entry of each girl and heartily applauded their approval as she bowed. But finally the long-awaited moment arrived, and the entrance of the first special maid, Dee Boulanger, came. The excitement rose to a peak when Karen Nungesser, the second special maid entered and everyone realized that Carma Braundmeier was the Homecoming Queen of 1963.

Emotions were high, but graciousness prevailed as Retiring Queen Gail reluctantly, but happily, gave up her throne to Queen Carma, and Retiring Athlete Chuck handed over the reins to Ray Ramach.

Congratulations were in order and the entire student body extended theirs to the new reigning queen and athlete.

The new Queen bows majestically before her subjects.

Senior Play — "Finders Creepers"

"Finders Creepers" won the 1963 "Irving" Award in six categories: best dramatic production, best actor and actress award, best supporting actors and actresses, best stage production, and best behind-the-scenes work. Although the "Irving" was only a lollipop, most spectators who viewed the production felt that the outstanding job performed by the seniors merited its own imitation of Hollywood's coveted "Oscar."

This could be serious!

Directors Carma Braundmeier, Mrs. Redolfi, and Barb Johann-tosettel discuss a production problem.

Junior-Senior Prom

Entertainment by the Sophomore quartet.

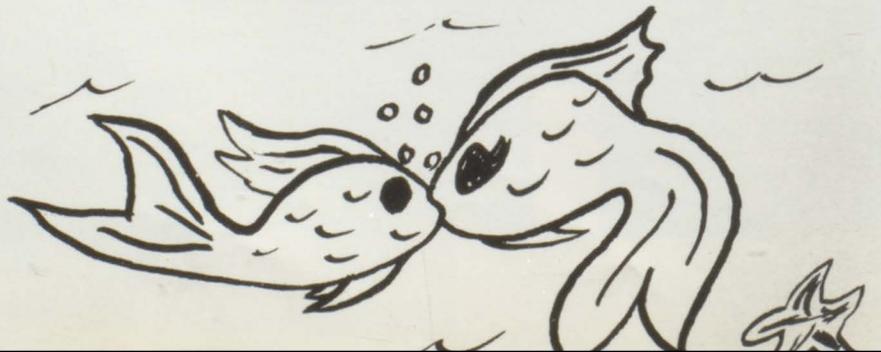

The many hours of time spent by the juniors transformed the gymnasium into an underwater fantasy - truly a "Fantasy of the Sea." The Juniors and Seniors danced to the music of the Knightbeats. The enchanting color scheme of the decorations combined with the many beautiful colors of formals and flowers presented a breathtaking picture. Memories of this wonderful prom will long be fixed in the minds of the students.

Moments to Remember — 1963

Each school year bustles with activities. Homecoming, exciting games, parties, dances, and assemblies are just a few. Some events we will all remember; others we will soon forget. The snapshots on this page should bring back a memory or two of some events which might have been forgotten and yet will always remind us of the happy, carefree days at H. H. S.

BULLDOGS

The hard-fighting Bulldogs once again proved their ability to win. The hard-hitting Bulldogs were one of the most feared teams in the Mid-Western Conference. With All-Conference quarterback Ray Ramach, and All-Conference fullback Dale Yeager the Bulldogs offense was constantly on the move. Although the line did not contain a lot of weight, it did a great job of battling its opponents. With stand out linemen like Carl Ernst, and All-Conference Denny Neumann, the Bulldog line battled its way forward. Highland High School can truly be proud of their football BULLDOGS.

The basketball Bulldogs this year had the best season since the '58 state team. The fast-breaking and hot-shooting Bulldogs ended the season with 16 wins and 9 defeats. With All-Conference sophomore, John Duft, leading the Highland scorers, the team ended up third in the conference with a 5 and 5 record. The fans will be able to look back on many thrilling games . . . A win over Carlyle in the Carlyle Tournament. With this game the Bulldogs won the tournament, and the first championship trophy received by the Bulldogs in five years.

Cross Country

Although Cross Country is one of the unheralded sports of H.H.S., there is probably no sport which demands more of the athlete. The athlete who runs Cross Country, must condition himself to the task of running two miles on a grueling course up and down hills.

The Bulldogs had an average season this year, but there will be several fine runners who will be returning for next year's team.

The pace slows down on the second lap, but the determination never ends.

A good start is important; the moments before the starting gun are tense.

Many records were shattered this year by Highland High's outstanding track team. Ray Ramach led the team in record-breaking by running the high hurdles in 15.4 seconds for a new Highland High mark and by flying over the low hurdles in 20.1 seconds to establish a new Midwestern Conference record. Ray also leaped to a new broad jump record of 19 feet 7 inches. Neal Quitmeyer went all out to run the 880 yd. dash in a new 2:07.9 minutes. In his first year out for track, Larry Barth surprised everyone by sprinting 100 yards in 10.5 seconds for a new Highland High record.

John Spengel and Bob Moyer excelled in the field events. Bob heaved the shot put to a new distance of 43'7". John bettered the old discus record by 10 feet with a toss of 134' 4".

Larry Barth, Joe Hess, Dennis Immer, and Ray Ramach teamed up to run the 880 yd. relay in the record time of 1:38.2.

Through the efforts of these boys and the remainder of the track, track has finally found its place at Highland High School.

Student Council

Getting his head cut off at an all-school assembly was only one of the ordeals Dennis Immer had to go through as president of the Student Council. Planning assemblies, arranging the annual homecoming and queen coronation, and taking into consideration the suggestions put into the suggestion box are only a small example of all the duties that the president, advisors, and members of the Student Council must perform.

The Student Council serves as the governmental body of H.H.S. It consists of 15 members - 2 freshmen, 3 sophomores, 4 juniors, 5 seniors, and 1 member at large. These 15 people are perhaps the most influential students in the high school. They stand for what every student wants to be.

National Honor Society

The members of National Honor Society are noted not only for their scholastic ability, but also for their participation in many school activities and organizations.

Membership to this organization is an achievement in itself as members are chosen from the upper 5% of juniors, and the upper 10% of the class for seniors. Members must maintain a B average to remain in the club. The club has sponsored a sock hop, given an assembly, provided a student employment service, and is working on a student directory.

Each member truly deserves the title of "Honor Student."

F.F.A.

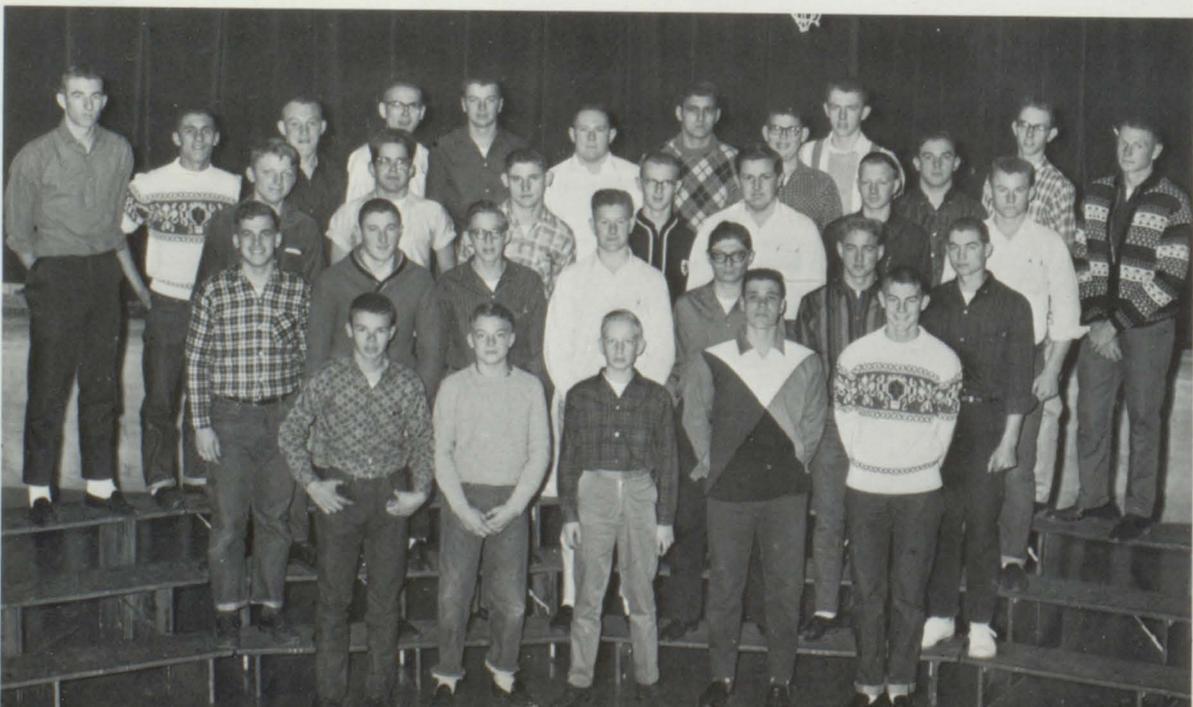

Work, work, work was certainly the motto of the F.F.A. this year. Among other activities, the organization carried on a "pest campaign," picked corn, and held a banquet in March. Don Merkle, president of the F.F.A., attended the I. A. A. - F. F. A. Conference at Bloomington and was able to bring back many new farming concepts and ideas to the other members. The F.F.A. experienced and learned many things this year which will aid them not only in present but also in future living.

A busy person is a happy person. This old adage can easily be applied to the girls in the F.H.A. From learning to make pizza at a pizza party in September to showing off their newly made outfits at the P.T.A. Style Show in April, the F.H.A. kept on a tight schedule. Other activities of the group included a Little Sister Christmas Party and an over-night trip to the U. of I. The F.H.A. made working a pleasure.

The F. T. A. builds teachers by giving them a chance to practice their future ambition. Many of the F. T. A. members do cadet teaching in order to learn more about this profession. This year the Future Teachers of America sponsored a tea for the men and women who were to serve as student teachers at Highland. This organization gives its members a preview of their goal in life.

Junior Volleyball Champs

Take one group of peppy girls, add a dash of laughter, and mix well with enthusiasm and you have the ingredients of H.H.S.'s largest organization - the G.A.A. No challenge is too great for these girls.

Their float, "Rumplestilskin Spins to Win" won first prize in the beauty division of the homecoming parade. The expenses of the annual overnight trip to Black River Lodge, a highlight of every year, were defrayed by candy sales in the fall.

Janet Schuepbach, Business Manager, and Susan Fellhauer, Circulation Editor, make plans for a coming issue.

Jokes, features, calendar, cartoons, sports, current events, and a little spicy gossip are all regular features, of the Bulldog. Much planning and work - writing, rewriting, typing, proof-reading, more typing, distributing - goes toward making each issue a worthwhile investment.

In addition to the Bulldog, this group also wrote regularly for the Newsleader Prep Page. Each member of the staff gained experience in writing various types of articles. Look at this group! There may be a future Pulitzer Prize winner smiling at you.

Iris

We, the yearbook staff, have endeavored to present an IRIS that will act as a record of the memorable school year of 1962-63. For the students of yesterday may it bring back many happy memories of their last year at H. H. S. To the students of today, we hope it will mark an important milestone in their educational lives.

As you, the students of H. H. S., look through this 1963 IRIS, we hope it will bring back many pleasant memories of the past school year. If it does so, we know then that our time and effort have not been in vain.

Spanish Club

The newly-formed Spanish Club proved to be a big "hit" with all its members. An all-school assembly included a Spanish dance, a scene in a Mexican restaurant, and even a bullfight. A costume party with the J. C. L. was the spring highlight for this organization.

Junior Classical League

A group of young Romans in modern-day America makes up this fine group. Actually, all the members are students at H.H.S. who have taken two years of Latin. A Roman banquet, complete with costumes, highlights the J.C.L. year. Three of its members, Bev Michael, Pam Lory, and Nancy Niggli, represented Highland High at the District Latin Contest.

Industrial Education

Short, fat, tall, thin - boys of all shapes and sizes puffed up and down the gym floor on Thursday evenings as they participated in Industrial Ed. basketball. Amid laughter and excitement, the teams battled for the league championship. Just for the record, Darwin Bloemker's team and Roger Zimmermann's team tied for first.

Besides playing basketball, the members also found time to repair toys at Christmas time and to go on several field trips. The toys that were repaired were given to several orphanages and to needy children in and around Highland. The club also visited Wick's Organ Co. and Granite City Steel.

This past year was full of many activities that will long be remembered by the members of the Highland High Industrial Education Club.

A Cappella

The A Cappella had a very busy 1962-63. Under the direction of Mr. Paul Roloff, the chorus members produced an assembly featuring the music of "Brigadoon." The chorus also performed at Greenville College, at the St. Paul High School, for the Optimist Club, and for other various organizations. The chorus performed at all these assemblies, plus the choral and band concerts. The highlight for the members of the A Cappella was the Spring Choral Concert.

Concert

Members of the brass sextet, Don Weder, Bill Langenberg, Trudi Rogier, Bob Rosenthal, Larry Guentensberger, and Gary Hartlieb, were a special feature at concerts.

Members of the band enjoyed a hectic but rewarding year in Concert Band. The traditional three concerts plus a concert given for the Madison County Teachers Association, a joint concert with St. Paul High School, band festivals and finally graduation, were some of the biggest events for the band. H. H. S. was well-represented at festivals with twenty-three members attending Madison County Festival, thirteen

Can you imagine being at a basketball game without noise? This wasn't the problem at Highland High School. The supporting cheers from the Pep Club and the snappy music of the Pep Band provided an exciting atmosphere during all the home games. Nearly 25% of the student body belongs to the Pep Club, but 100% of the student body supports the team.

Graduation

The climax of four years' work, the end and yet the beginning -- that is graduation -- the first goal of many, but the prelude of greater things to come. Graduation is met with mixed emotions -- smiles, tears, anticipation. For seventy-six seniors who have spent four years learning and laughing together, it is the culmination of four years of growth at H. H. S.

We, the Iris staff, would like to express a sincere thanks to our advertisers. Your support has been greatly appreciated. Without your interest the 1962-63 yearbook would not have been possible.

Together We Have Grown . . .

. . . as students, as classmates, as individuals. And now the halls are empty. Lockers have been cleaned.
Books have been stored for the summer.
Another school year has ended.

To some of us the empty halls mean that our four years together as a class are through.
Now our paths will part and we shall go our separate ways. Although some of us must say farewell to the halls of ivy, we are not completely filled with sadness; for ahead lie new experiences, new friends, new challenges, new mountains to climb, and new rivers to cross.

To others the empty halls mean that another milestone of our high school years has passed. We anticipate returning in the fall, putting our new facilities to use, meeting new friends and old, and accepting the challenge of new classes, new teachers, and new studies.

To each of us the halls of H. H. S. are filled with memories. And through the years, these memories of 1963 at H. H. S. - the fun, the friends, the tears, the work, and the many rewards - will not fade. In memory we shall often walk through these halls and hear them re-echo the refrain of that beloved song:

And we will not forget you
Though we're far, far away.
