1964

Volume 44

Published by the Iris Staff 46168
Highland High School — Highland, Illinois

Foreword . . .

High school is a parade of sounds--busy sounds--sounds of people working, playing, singing, and laughing together. Under the direction of our teachers and administrators, these sounds blend and harmonize into a symphony of their own--a symphony of high school, of our school, of Highland High School.

Although the song ends, the melody lingers. The laughter, the sighs, the cheers of victory, the cries of defeat--these are the sounds of one year that will echo in our hearts throughout our lives. These are the sounds of Highland High, 1963-1964. These are the sounds we cherish.

Through words and pictures we the Iris Staff have attempted to capture for you the highlights of one year. We invite you to . . .

Drum Major Brad Winter (on Title Page) and majorettes Donna Siegrist, Rae Hebrank, Joan Witschie, Candy Stratton, and Sharon Klenke, along with the Marching Band, lead the parade into a year of memorable events.

Dedication

This yearbook, the Iris, is a record of our lives at H.H.S. As the years pass, the mental picture that we carry with us will fade; the images will become indistinguishable. When we think of the days spent here, we shall remember the laughter, the sobs, the voices of friends, the stern reprimands of teachers--we shall remember the sounds of H.H.S. Because these sounds are so important and will remain so, on behalf of the Iris staff, we, the Editors, dedicate the 1964 Iris to those among us who make sounds enjoyable--to the music department--to the students and teachers who put their talents to use to make the sounds of H.H.S. meaningful and delightful to listen to. To these people we dedicate this Iris in sincere appreciation.

Editors Pam Lory, Janet Schuepbach, and Kathy Iberg join forces to put the finishing touches on the Iris.

... To Voices Uniting in Song,

Members of H. H. S.'s various choral groups literally sang their way through the 1963-64 school year. Some members gave up study halls to be a part of the A Cappella Choir; others relinquished conference periods to participate in the choruses. Songs ranging from melancholy Negro spirituals to lilting Broadway hits were practiced to reach perfection. The long hours of practice paid off when talents were shared with others in concerts and assemblies. Music, indeed is the universal language, and man's moods and emotions can be expressed no better than through song.

BOYS' QUARTET: Don Callahan, Dennis Warnecke, Doug Schoen, Adrian Rogier.

ACCOMPANISTS: Bob Ullman, Nancy Bosche, Sandy Janssen, Barb Zobrist.

... And to Instruments Blending in Harmony!

The tuneful melodies of the band kept members in a busy hum this year as the concert and marching bands performed their many duties. This year, 1963-64, proved to be a busy year with trips to the U. of I. and S.I.U. In addition to the three annual band concerts, the band also took part in the Knights of Columbus parade. The faithful marching band was on hand to pep up half-time at the football games. Also, special recognition is due the members of the pep band who did so much to make our games lively and the intermissions musical.

Janet Schuepbach, Rick Moser, Jo Ellen Winter, Nancy Bosche, Bonnie Backus, Barbara Zobrist.

The conductor raises his baton; the overture begins. The music is lively and peppy; the tune is happy. The overture is a sampling of the total work, of the highlights of a student's life at H.H.S. The happy sounds of people having fun together in the Doghouse during lunch period, of organization members sharing ideas, of enthusiastic crowds cheering the team on to victory, of students silent in meditation or study - these are but a few. There are many. For this is the music of high school! These are the sounds of H.H.S.

This Is the Music of High School! Sounds — Familiar and Sentimental.

The familiar hubbub of the cafeteria is a sound with which we are all acquainted.

This Is the Ballad of One Year —

Mr. Davis leads the A Cappella Choir in singing well-known Christmas carols, which brightened the school's Christmas spirit.

The Shrill Ringing of Bells That Call Us to and From Classes . . .

Chatter and congestion - a familiar sight as students rush to and from classes.

The Laughter of a Good Time Shared . . .

Mary Ann Spacek and Kenny Siverly find a moment to share nervous laughter on homecoming night.

A phonograph and dance records have established the newly-decorated Doghouse as a favorite "hangout" during lunch period.

The noise and clatter of the cafeteria seem to have no effect on Barb Hill's appetite.

... Homecoming.

A highlight of every school year is the long-anticipated weekend of homecoming. It started off this year with a snake dance beginning at the square and ending at H.H.S. where a large turnout of students joined in a rousing bonfire.

Busy, busy, busy were the words to describe this homecoming. The students of H.H.S. can look back upon it with many fond memories. We won our homecoming game with a score of 27-14 - the first time our Bulldogs had ever beaten Madison. Every float in the parade was a beautiful success. We crowned our first king, Dennis Immer, and a radiant new queen, Mary Ann Spacek. All the "little things" - crepe paper, mums, football uniforms, formals - that make homecoming a wonderful time of year will not soon be forgotten.

The pep band helped to spark up the bonfire celebration.

Special Maid Kathy Iberg receives last-minute adjustments.

John "Spank" Spengel adds a last-minute touch to the junior float.

Even Senior Class president, Charlie Barber, gets busy on flowers for the float.

Student Council president, Dennis Immer, supervises the space project at Cape H.H.S.

Although it looks as if it will fall apart, Jim, it is a real winner.

The Industrial Ed Club provided a space ambulance for the defeated Trojans.

The Spanish Club float said "Let's have Victory" in many languages.

The theme, "Blast-off to Victory" won second prize in originality for the Freshman class.

The Art Club float offered the Trojans a trip to the moon.

Future . . . "

Even though not every float could win a prize, the fun and excitement that went along with the effort put forth by all the clubs and classes made each of the finished products a real success. Clever minds worked night and day trying to devise unique ideas and beautiful creations for floats that were built according to this year's theme, "A Look Into the Future." Long hours were spent in turning ordinary wagons into masterpieces of beauty and ingenuity.

The Sophomore class won first prize in originality for their time machine.

The "Swami" of the Bulldog staff's float predicted a victory for the Bulldogs.

Cardboard stars were sparkling in the gym of H.H.S. on the night of the homecoming coronation, but they couldn't be compared with the stars sparkling in the eyes of Mary Ann Spacek as she was crowned queen of H.H.S. for 1963-64 by the new king of H.H.S., Dennis Immer. Mary Ann and Dennis were attended by the two special maids, Kathy Iberg and Carole Kraigher, who were escorted by Joe Hess and Ken Siverly respectively. The royal court, a beautiful galaxy of stars, dotted the heavens of the H.H.S. gym. Retiring queen, Carma Braundmeier, and retiring Athlete of the Year, Ray Ramach, relinquished their thrones to the new royalty of H.H.S. The first dance was reserved for the new queen and her court; then, everyone joined them for a celestial evening of dancing and gaiety, which will long be remembered as the final touch to a wonderful weekend.

After the ceremony, the new queen is congratulated.

These are the "special" people who were chosen by the members of their respective classes to participate in the coronation ceremony. They carried out their assigned duties gladly and felt honored to be a part of the royal court. By performing their duties they added an extra glow to the star-studded enjoyment of the homecoming celebration.

These, then, are the things which made homecoming this year a huge success: beautiful floats, a rousing bonfire and snake dance, a victory over Madison, and a memorable coronation ceremony.

Sets Sail for an Evening of Fun.

At twenty bells sharp on Saturday evening, April 25, 1964, the H. H. S. BON VOYAGE left port for an all night cruise. There was smooth sailing on the nine hour cruise, as the juniors entertained the seniors with good dance music, refreshments, and entertainment.

Although the Junior-Senior Prom lasts but a few short hours, the preparations for the event began months in advance to insure a successful evening. This year was no exception. H. H. S.'s familiar gym was completely transformed into a ship's ballroom. The facsimile was complete to bottles of "champagne" and an ample supply of seasick pills. Entertainment was furnished by M. C. Barry Schuepbach and the Singing Four, better known as the sophomore quartet.

The cruise ended with a breakfast preceded by the movie, "Gidget Goes Hawaiian." The voyage had been happy and the prom - successful and memorable.

Faculty as well as students enjoyed the all night cruise.

G. A. A. 's four-year members inspect their awards.

Highland High's annual awards day was held on the morning of May 15. It was a rewarding experience for many hard-working students. Many coveted awards were won. Among them were the American Legion Award won by Judy Reinacher and Dennis Immer, the Homemaking Award won by Sandy Gibbons, the W.O.W. American History Award won by Dennis Koch, and the Danforth Award won by Jo Ellen Winter.

Mr. Roe shows his surprise as two of his students, Eldo Pfister and Jim Hirsch, award him for being an all-around "good guy."

Ellen Franz takes a running jump.

The twentieth annual Track and Field Day on May 8, was won by the Junior Class in a breeze with the total of 259 points. By the final count, the sophomores had 162 1/2 points, the freshmen 153 1/2 points in the battle for second place. Last place went to the Class of '64 with 131 points.

Track and Field Day is one of H.H.S.'s annual events. It enables the students who have been unable to participate in sports to show their athletic ability.

Charlie Barber hurls the discus.

Terry Metzger tries the standing broad jump.

Organizations

The music softens; the tone becomes more serious. The sounds are now of people sharing ideas, of people discussing and debating, of people voting on important questions. Through membership in organizations, students learn to accept responsibilities, make decisions, and carry out the fundamentals of self-government. There is an organization for every interest ranging from photography to Latin. Membership may require high scholastic averages or entail vigorous campaigning, but the goals remain constant. The sound of the gavel hitting the table, the buzz of voices in discussion, the sighs of satisfaction of a job well done - these too are part of the music of high school; these too are the sounds of H.H.S.

Student Council Votes-in New Homecoming Procedure.

Discussing the new homecoming procedure are officers Dennis Immer, president; Kent Iberg, vice president; Debra Hoffman, secretary; and Lynette Baumann, treasurer.

All hands were raised in favor of the new homecoming proposal. After carefully considering student suggestions, the 16 members of the Student Council voted in favor of electing a king at homecoming instead of the traditional Athlete of the Year. In addition to the homecoming change, the Council was also responsible for the new Doghouse, which serves as a recreation room for our students. They also sponsored several assemblies and studied suggestions placed in the suggestion box.

The 16 members on the Council are elected by the student body. Fourteen are chosen from their respective classes - 2 freshmen, 3 sophomores, 4 juniors, and 5 seniors. The remaining two are elected at large from the student body. This year, once again the Student Council has done an excellent job.

Decorating for homecoming are freshman and sophomore members Emily Werder, Russ Winter, Adrian Rogier, and Brad Winter.

Chatting during noon hour are senior members Dennis Immer, Charlie Barber, Lester Altevogt, Carole Kraigher, Debra Hoffman, and Jo Winter. Charlie is a member-at-large.

Checking the suggestion box are junior members Lynette Baumann, Lynn Roberts, Jane Wilson, John Spengel, and Kent Iberg. John is also a member-at-large.

Rex Davis spoke at the NHS assembly.

NHS Initiates Declared Guilty!

Seven members of the junior class and fifteen members of the senior class were found guilty of leadership, scholarship, character, and service. Because of their guilt they were chosen to be a part of the National Honor Society. The high standards and the small membership make membership to this noted organization an achievement in itself.

Publishing a student directory and organizing a summer employment program are only two of the activities which the NHS sponsored this year.

Prove That Keeping Physically Fit . . .

Winning first place in the beauty division for their homecoming float was just the beginning of a year of rewarding experiences for the members of the Girls Athletic Association. G.A.A. enables girls to show their athletic abilities through extracurricular competitive sports. After school activities include hiking, biking, volleyball, basketball, bowling, and softball. Competition is keen as the girls vie to add points to their year's score in order to receive pins on Awards Day. During the winter months, the girls also sell candy in order to earn money for their annual weekend trip to Black River Lodge. Rarely does a week go by when G.A.A. is not busily engaged in some activity.

Bowling is an active part of the G.A.A. program.

Rewarding Too.

There is also a more serious side to the activities of G.A.A. Each activity in which the girls participate adds another stone to the foundation of each girl's character. Each year G.A.A. visits the old folks home and provides an evening's entertainment for the residents. This year the girls also participated in the March of Dimes drive by collecting funds on Lily Day. In work and in play the members of G.A.A. find many rewards and much personal satisfaction.

A pot-luck supper and initiation, a party at the Old Folks' Home, and a Christmas gift exchange were just a part of these busy girls' schedules. They even found time to make scarves for the people at the Alton Hospital, which helped the girls to carry out their program theme for the year - promoting better mental health.

Work is not the only objective of F.F.A. Fun and fellowship are also stressed. A highlight of this year's activities was the annual banquet at which the boys entertained their parents and shared with them the results of their efforts.

A field trip through the Shell Oil refineries was only one of several important activities in which members of the Industrial Education Club participated this year. The tour through the refineries enabled the boys to see the industry in action as well as learn about the opportunities for employment which the industry offers.

Once again this year the boys repaired toys at Christmas for several orphanages. To use up any excess energy, the members also organized intramural basketball teams and created an ingenious float for the homecoming parade.

Art Club Designs Doghouse Murals.

The Rembrandts of Highland High showed their abilities this year by painting murals on the walls of the Doghouse. In addition to the fine job they did there, they found time to visit the St. Louis Art Museum. Between their many other activities they also built a float for Homecoming and decorated the windows of the auditorium with religious scenes during Christmas time.

"Cheese" was heard more than once this year as the members of the Camera Club went about snapping pictures. Members of the club have a chance to sharpen their interest in photography as well as learn more about it. The Camera Club, which was just formed this year, had the task of taking pictures for the Iris. We think they've done a splendid job.

J.C.L. Holds Annual Roman Banquet.

One might think slaves are out of style until he visits the slave auction of the Junior Classical League. This year these modern Romans had a banquet at which there were not only slaves but also Olympic games in the fine Roman style.

The JCL sent three delegates, Chuck Roe, Emily Werder, and Russ Winter, to represent Highland in the district Latin contest. All three brought back high honors.

IRIS

Editors

A yearbook is first an idea - an idea which takes form and finally becomes a reality through the hard work and originality of the editors, the sponsor, the photographer, and the members of the staff. It is an idea which would be nothing more than an idea without the cooperation of the administration and faculty, and countless others.

A yearbook is one big idea made up of a thousand little ideas, which executed with skill, becomes a record of one year of your lives at H.H.S. These are the people who execute these ideas and make the Iris a reality.

Special credit goes to Eddie Jenny for our cover design and to Diana Werner who designed the end sheets.

BULLDOG

No school would be complete without a newspaper published by the students. The members of the BULLDOG Staff are responsible for the hard work that goes into putting our BULLDOG together. A major accomplishment of the staff this year was the publication of the eight page senior issue of the BULLDOG.

Librarians Assist in New Library.

The new location of the library meant hard work for our librarians. They worked hard straightening books and keeping them patched and orderly.

Sports

The volume increases; the tempo quickens. The sounds are now of voices united in singing the school song, of a quarterback calling plays on the football field, of cheerleaders leading the "Battle Cry," of a gun firing at the start of a track meet. Although the sounds vary, they blend harmoniously. For they are the sounds of teamwork. They are the sounds of the Bulldogs pulling together on the athletic field; they are the sounds of students cheering together for victory; they are the sounds of sportsmanship and of school spirit. They are the music of high school; they are the sounds of H.H.S.

School Spirit at Peak.

Whether our team was winning or losing, our high-spirited cheerleaders kept the crowds roaring, enthusiastically urging the Bulldogs on to victory. Exceptionally high in school spirit, these girls practiced and worked to perfect peppy cheers, to make rallies varied and exciting, and to arrange new experiences for the students at H. H. S., such as the snake dance at homecoming. These girls deserve a cheer for themselves and the fine job that they have done.

Head Coach Frank Prchal and Ass't Glen Monken discuss a new play.

The Bulldogs of Coach Frank Prchal finished third in the tough Mid-Western Conference. With a speedy backfield, led by all-conference halfback Denny Immer, Highland was always a threat to score. The light but hard-nosed line was anchored by all-conference end John Spengel and guard Roger Dubach. Although constantly outweighed, the line usually did a fine job. Coach Prchal and his football Bulldogs provided a thrilling season of games for all Highland fans.

With a regional championship under his belt, Coach Roger Kesner decided to make this his last year of coaching basketball. The Bulldogs had only a fair season with a win-loss record of ten and ten, but they really showed their "stuff" during the regional tourney and came out on top. Although they lost to Collinsville in the first game of the sectionals, the Bulldogs and their many fans decided that this was truly an unforgettable season.

Baseball Bulldogs Win Conference Championship!

The fighting Baseball Bulldogs added another trophy to the trophy case this year. A 15-11 victory over Roxana captured the Mid-Western Conference championship for H. H. S. Behind nine runs in the first inning, the Bulldogs fought back to victory and showed again their ability to fight to the finish. This was Coach Hilbert's last game as baseball coach, and the boys sent him out as a winner.

Members of the track team are specialists: they specialize in breaking records. The athlete on the Track team is not competing primarily with other athletes: he is competing with a record that has been set. His primary goal is to break that record; at times he is actually competing with only himself. He is constantly striving to better his past performance. This intangible goal is what makes track events difficult and exciting.

Cross Country

Perhaps the Cross Country runners didn't make it from Atlantic to Pacific, but to them the run over a two-mile obstacle course seems as long. Cross Country, although it is not a popular spectator sport, is nevertheless important to the athlete as a grueling self-test in perseverance and stamina.

Joe Hess - Athlete of the Year

Joe Hess was named Athlete of the Year at a ceremony honoring all athletes who received letters in various sports this year. The Bulldog Ball, held May 9, was sponsored by the Student Council. Our Queen, Mary Ann Spacek, announced that Joe had been elected the Athlete of 1964.

Joe, a member of the class of 1964, participated in cross country, football, basketball, and track. He earned letters in football and track this year.

May 9, 1964, will always be remembered by Highland High School's Athlete of the Year, Joe Hess.

Joey's more at home holding a football than a bouquet of flowers at homecoming.

Administration and Faculty

The music pauses briefly and the conductors take a bow. What good are music, instruments, and musicians if they are not brought together harmoniously? Under the direction of our administrators and faculty members, learning becomes possible; knowledge becomes wisdom; goals become reality. A voice, clear and unfaltering, imparting knowledge to a listening class; a reassuring voice of encouragement, urging and prodding when situations seem hopeless; the firm voice of discipline, correcting and guiding - these too are part of the music of high school. These too are sounds of H.H.S.

SCHOOL BOARD: Mr. Stratton, Mr. Suhre, Mr. Fritch, Mr. Essenpries, Mr. Randle, Mr. Ulrich, Mr. Michael, Mr. Ernst.

Wise Administration Provides Students of H.H.S.

SUPERINTENDENT: Olin W. Stratton

PRINCIPAL: Paul J. Diefenbach

Lila Manville, our high school secretary, keeps things running smoothly in the high school office. Although her duties are many, Lila carries them all out efficiently.

Students Wanda Weder, Mary Ann Spacek, and Judy Reinacher assisted Lila in the office.

With Varied and Up-to-Date Program.

Although never found in front of the classroom, our administrators and office personnel play an important part in the learning process which goes on at H.H.S. For they are the ones who foster better teaching techniques, insure the best equipment and textbooks for our use, and provide for the expansion and growth of our school. Although we sometimes forget the importance of their jobs, we know that without them H.H.S. could not function.

Mrs. Senn, Mrs. Neudecker, Mrs. Braswell, and Mrs. Imboden work as secretaries in the Main Office. Dealing primarily with the paper work of the high school, they too are important in our school program.

Mrs. Bellm, our school nurse, tries to keep us all healthy and happy.

Classes Are Offered in Any Field— From Vocational Direction

Guidance of any sort is offered to the students of H.H.S. through the services of Mr. Classon, our new guidance counselor.

The vocational direction department of our high school has grown increasingly important in the curriculum of many students. This department offers varied instruction, such as: home economics, typing, shorthand, agriculture, drafting, metals, electricity, office machines, and office practice. Whether preparing for a job as an office worker, a housewife, or a farmer or for advanced studies in college, all the students at H.H.S. have found the services of the vocational education department extremely helpful in their preparation. This is just one of the many steps forward that have been taken to make H.H.S. a school which can better prepare any student in any field he may choose.

These girls are saving money by learning to sew their own clothes, one of the many lessons to be learned in Home Economics Department.

Especially the girls benefit greatly from the classes of these three teachers: Mr. Ridgley, who teaches Record Keeping, Bookkeeping, Typing, and Office Machines; Miss Gray, who teaches Shorthand, Typing, Office Practice, and Speech; and Mrs. Newlin, who teaches Home Economics and Home Problems.

The end of the building where these men teach may as well be labeled "Men Only" for here, it really is a man's world. Mr. West teaches classes in Metals and Electricity; Mr. Eiler teaches Vocational Agriculture; and Mr. Roe teaches Drafting and Shop.

From Physical Education or History . . .

The coaches and physical education teachers serve double duty - Mr. Hilbert who is the Athletic Director teaches American History and Human Relations. Mrs. Redolfi, Dean of Girls, teaches girls' P.E. and Health and Safety. Mr. Kesner teaches boys' P.E. and World Problems, Geography, and Health and Safety. Mr. Yarde teaches World History, American History, and Boys' P.E.

Math and Science teachers meet in the Biology Lab, for a technical conversation. Mr. Zelnick teaches Biology and General Science; Mr. White, Physics, Chemistry and Algebra I; Mr. Clark, Algebra II, Geometry, and Practical Math; and Mrs. MacDonald, Solid Geometry and Trigonometry.

To Math and Science or the Fine Arts . . .

The student's curriculum is varied in order to give him a basic knowledge of many things. He takes P.E. to keep his body in "shape," he takes math or science to stimulate his mind, and he takes art or music to better his artistic tastes, and the humanities to better understand man and the world. Each course is different, and each adds much to the student's general education.

Culture is the keynote in this conversation as Mr. Davis, vocal music instructor; Mrs. Christoe, Art instructor; and Mr. Lyon, Band director, discuss the many phases of the fine arts department.

... or Languages.

Teaching communication is the job of these teachers. Teaching students to communicate with others, whether speaking in English or a foreign language, is a big job, and these teachers carry it through admirably.

In the language lab., foreign language teachers, Mrs. Roe, Latin; Mrs. Bastilla, French; and Mrs. Alarcon, Spanish, discuss modern methods of teaching.

Teachers of the English Department compare scores on the Co-operative English Tests. They are: Miss Pyrtle, English III and Algebra I; Mrs. Lyon, English I; Miss Ragsdale, Speech and English Composition; Mr. Ott, English II; and Miss Wilson, English III.

A Special Vote of Thanks Goes to Our Custodians, . . .

These people are not teachers, administrators, or office personnel; but they fall into a category of their own - they are necessary to the function of our school. They work hard to keep our school clean and attractive and to provide us with good, hot lunches. Their work is often taken for granted and frequently goes unappreciated. But we are grateful to them for the work they do, for they help to provide us with a school of which we are very proud.

Mr. Seen and Mr. Hug are our fun-filled hard-working custodians.

. . . To Our Cafeteria Workers, . . .

Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Iberg, Mrs. Vulliet, Mrs. Mueller, Mrs. Werner.

. . . To Our Cafeteria Helpers.

Classes

The concert nears completion; the finale is yet to come. It is time for the musicians to take a bow. For without the students, the sounds of H.H.S. would be meaningless. The sounds of lockers banging shut; of laughter in the halls between classes; of voices united in assemblies; of hushed whispers shared in private; of friendships never to end; of hopes, dreams, and future ambitions - these are the music of high school. These are the sounds of H.H.S.

To the familiar strains of "Pomp and Circumstances," the 1964 graduates marched solemnly into the Evangelical and Reformed United Church of Christ for Baccalaureate services on May 26. This was their first step toward that long-sought goal. Pastor Schoen delivered the inspirational message entitled "Life Is Big."

The seniors took their final march forward as students at H.H.S. on May 29 at the Commencement services. Dr. Quincy Dounda, president of Eastern Illinois University, presented the address entitled, "Behave Yourself." With smiles, tears and sober faces, the graduates received their diplomas from Mr. Ernst, president of the Board of Education; they then marched for the last time down the aisle of the gym, keeping before them their class motto: "Forward Ever, Backward Never."

Mr. Diefenbach gives last minute instructions before Baccalaureate Services begin.

Marshals chosen by the graduating class from the junior class are Lynn Roberts and John Spengel.

Graduation Provides Grand Finale to Four Years of Study!

The graduates anxiously await the first strains of the "Triumphal March."

The big moment finally arrives as Kathy Iberg receives her diploma.

The 1963-64 IRIS Staff would like to thank the advertisers for their support. Without their help this publication of the IRIS would not have been possible.

Other schools have chosen colors,
The violet's dark blue,
The golden of the sunshine,
The spotted lily's hue.
We shall own the rose's crimson
Nor honor shall they lack,
But we'll always be defenders,
Of our chosen Red and Black.

Thru the years we spent in high school
'Mid the scenes we know so well,
As the mystic charms of knowledge,
We vainly seek to spell;
Or when in the spring they call us
To win upon the track,
Let us always keep before us
Our colors Red and Black.

And when time's swift tide has borne us
Beyond the lesson's sway,
And the old brick walls have vanished
With their round of work and play;
As the cares of life shall thicken,
Let us turn our memories back,
And renew the old time courage
As we think of Red and Black.

The concert has ended; the instruments play no more. Bells no longer ring; the halls no longer echo with laughter. Like a beautiful symphony which ends leaving us begging for more, our years at H.H.S. end too soon. Although we have spent only four short years at H.H.S., the influence of our days here will never cease, but will remain throughout our lives like the tune of our favorite song. The words are not very clear, but the melody lingers on.

We won't remember all of the lessons that we learned while attending classes, but the lessons in human values and friendship will never leave us. We shall fondly recall the guiding influence of our teachers, and through experience, we will know that somehow they were always right. We shall nostalgically hum the strains, "We shall always be defenders of our chosen Red and Black." In the years ahead, we shall often replay the album of our high school years and hear again the music of our lives at H.H.S.--the bells ringing, the laughter in the halls, the ticking of the clocks, the quiet of thinking, the shouts of victory, the stern voice of discipline.

Even though our days at H.H.S. are but a movement in our symphony of life, they are one of the most beautiful movements, written in allegro, ending with the grand finale--graduation. And this year, 1964, will always be a bright note in this movement of our symphony.
