School District To Vote On New

Twice during the 1971-72 school year, HHS students had an opportunity to become involved in local politics. As 830 students attended classes in a building built to house half that many, the need for passage of the proposed bond issue to build a new high school became apparent.

Colorful posters made by student volunteers, made the voting public aware of the coming election.

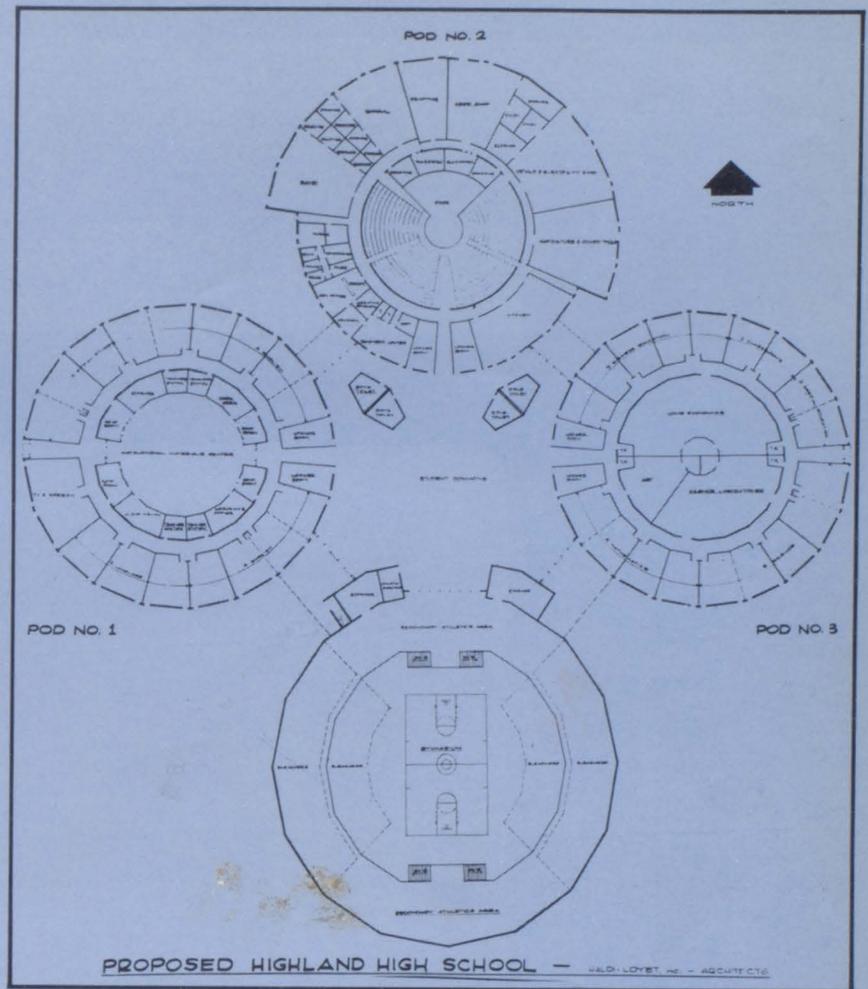

Students and faculty members joined forces to "get out the vote." (Above) Pamphlets discussing the proposal were distributed throughout the school district, and (Below) chauffeuring services were made available to anyone needing them to get to the polls.

High School

Many students volunteered their services to make voting citizens aware of the space problem. When the proposal was defeated the first time on Sept. 25, the determined workers pushed even harder for its passage when it was re-submitted on March 11. Weeks before each election, students designed and distributed pamphlets and posters and offered babysitting and chauffeuring services on polling days. For the first time, many 18 year olds exercised their voting right.

Although the bond proposal was defeated both times, HHS students had learned important lessons about the workings of the democratic system.

If The Bond Issue Fails...

BY 448 VOTES

School Bond Issue Loses

Voters in the Highland Community Unit School District No. 5 soundly defeated a second attempt to pass a school bond issue Saturday, casting a total of 2073 NO votes compared to only 1625 YES votes. The margin of defeat, 448 votes, was greater than in September when a $4.4 million bond issue went down to defeat by 201 votes. The proposition this time was for a $3.5 million bond issue to build a new high school and additions to the New Douglas and Grantfork grade schools.

In September, Highland voters approved the bond issue by 22 votes, 946 to 924, but Saturday they too defeated the proposal, voting against it by 1437 to 1273, a margin of 164 votes.

Just as at the first election, the proposition lost in the other four centers. New Douglas defeated the proposal 103 to 63; Alhambra 245 to 113; Grantfork 149 to 111, and Pierron 139 to 65.

The YES - NO total adds up to 3698 votes, but there were 38 spoiled ballots. The actual number of votes cast was 3736, almost a thousand more than the 2827 ballots in the September election.

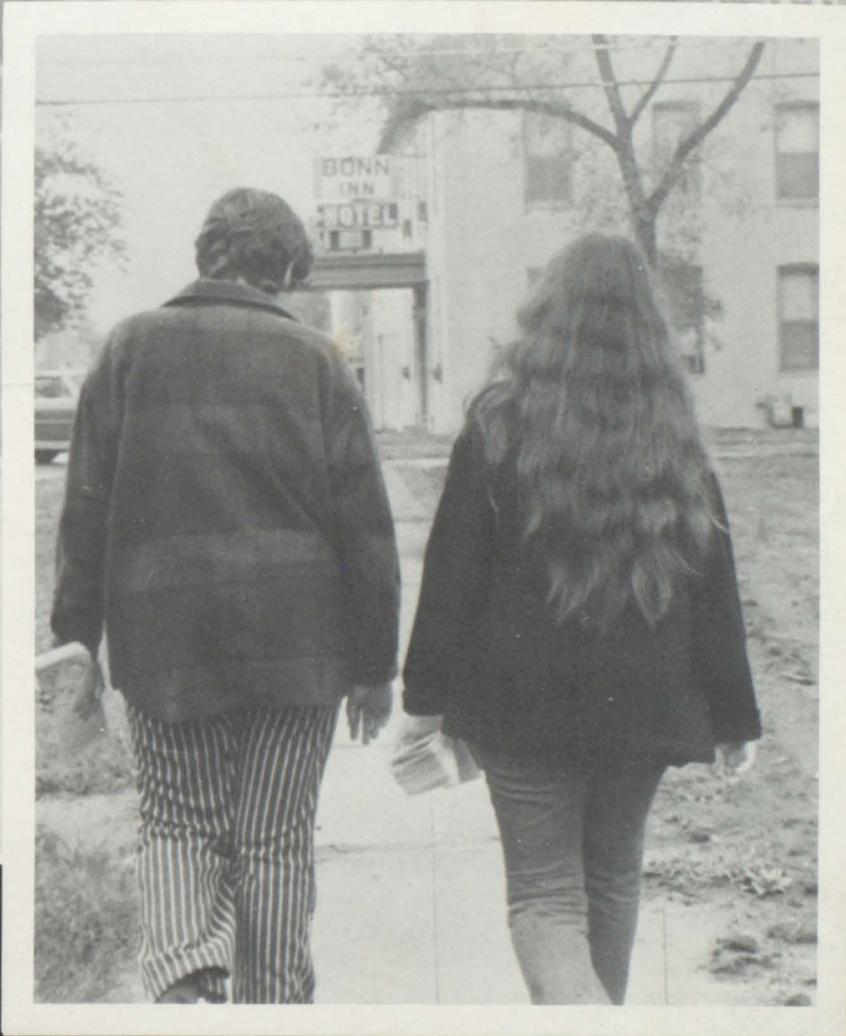

Voters were bombarded prior to this election with charges and allegations of incompetence and fraud on the part of the school board members. Backers of the proposition publicized their stand prolifically as well as to the need for a new high school here, and additions to the New Douglas and Grantfork schools. Obviously their arguments went unheeded by the voters.

While the bond issue lost here for the second time, it is not unusual nation-wide. Only 48% of all school bond issues carried in the United States in 1970 according to the most recent figures available, compared to 89% in 1960.

	Yes	No	Spoiled	Votes
New Douglas	63	103	2
Alhambra	113	245	4
Grantfork	111	149	3

Triumph of the individual

From the mass comes the individual
... turning defeat into triumph ...
using his abilities and knowledge ... achieving recognition ... bringing fame to his school ... alone ... as part of a group ... finding success
... in business ... in athletics ... in communications ... in agriculture
... and most of all ... in life.

Of special value to HHS students was Mr. Fred Singleton's nine week trip to Australia as part of an exchange program sponsored by Rotary. Mr. Singleton brought back much interesting information to share with his classes concerning life at the bottom of the world.

A new media of exchange this year was the Student-Faculty Committee. The committee helped bridge the communication gap between students and faculty as they discussed many common school problems. One result of their effort is the initiation of a pass-fail system to be tried in some courses next year.

(Above) The Collinsville Vocational School provided attending HHS students opportunities to specialize in skills needed for various vocations. (Below) On-the-job-training is the function of the Co-op program where local merchants and industries work with the school to prepare students for future employment.

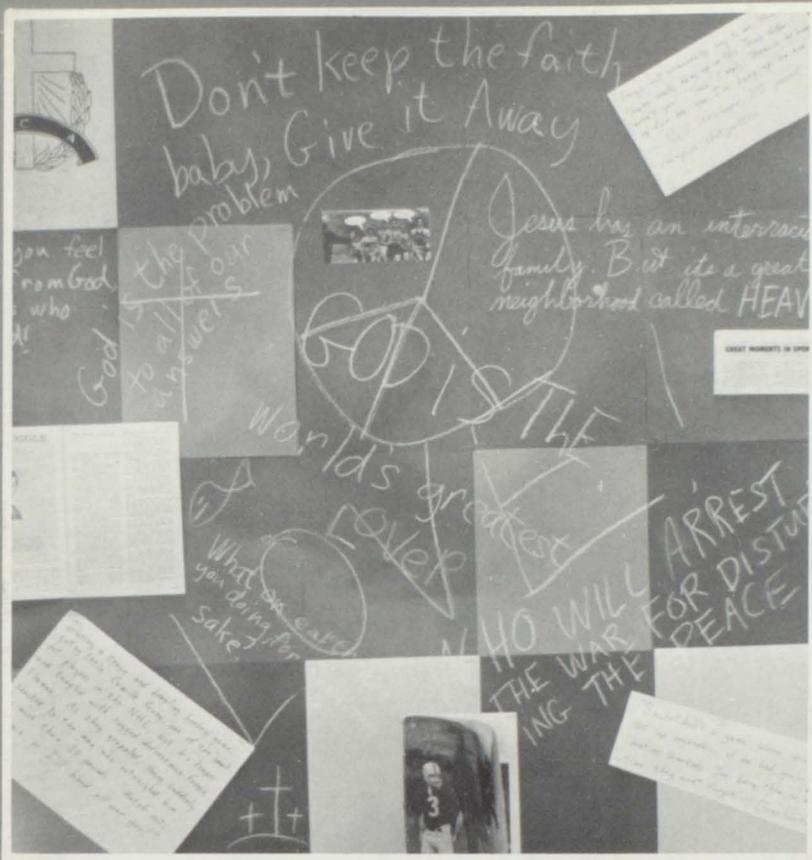

Facing each HHS student is the decision of what he will do after high school. Although it cannot make choices for him, the guidance department helps bring to the attention of the student various career possibilities available.

Awareness

Who am I? ... what am I?
 ... why am I? ... seeking
 ... grasping ... searching for answers ... wanting to fit ... to belong ... looking inwardly as well as outwardly
 ... wanting to help ... to be involved ... yet shunning
 the responsibility ...
 running from confusion ...
 facing confusion ... finding an identity ... recognizing frustration as part of life ...
 becoming a whole person
 ... physically ... mentally
 ... spiritually.

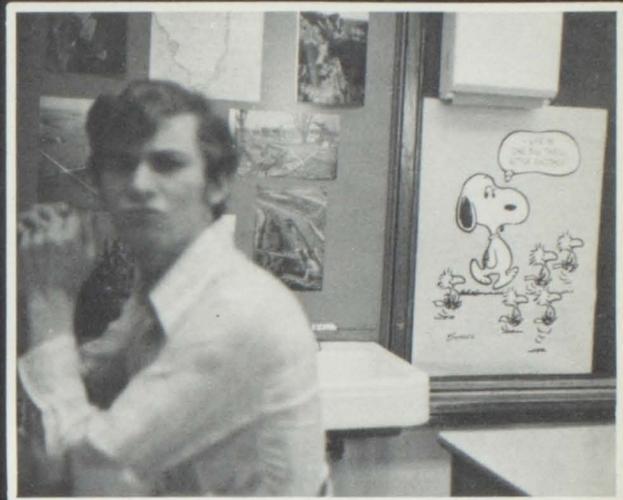

Some called it a movement; others called it a fad; but most involved took it seriously. Religion made an impact on HHS students during 1971-72. Under the leadership of such organizations as the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Exegetes, and other church groups, students became aware of the need for spiritual growth. Colorful posters and bulletin boards invited anyone interested to participate in open inspirational meetings at local churches where religious discussions and "rap" sessions were held. Putting their beliefs into action, many students joined in brief student-led devotions before morning classes, meeting in empty hallways, vacant classrooms or wherever they could find space.

Planning for future needs

This year found the administration at a crisis point. The defeat of two successive school bond issues meant alternate methods had to be devised to meet the educational needs of the ever-growing student population. Among the temporary solutions is the staggered three-shift plan which will go into effect next year.

In an attempt to establish greater rapport with the student body, the administrators once again sponsored an honors banquet and sanctioned the formation of the Student-Faculty Committee. Members of this committee considered proposals which would hopefully benefit the school, including the institution of a pass-fail program for next year.

Developing Communication skills

Proper speaking and writing skills are essential for anyone wishing to function effectively in our society. The speech department enables students to acquire the confidence needed to give their thoughts voice, through classroom work and inter-school competition. Correct use of words, as well as providing an acquaintance with some of the literature of the ages, is the concern of the English department. German was added to the language department this year, along with Spanish, French, and Latin, to give students knowledge of the world outside their classroom.

Who said English classes are all work and no play? Mrs. Highley and her students set out to disprove that statement.

Gary Heim uses a talkback to prepare his drama class presentation. (Below) Mrs. Carrow uses a combination of humor and extensive knowledge of her material to hold the attention of her students.

The services of reading specialist Mrs. Jacqueline Schneider were offered this year to students having reading difficulties.

Expressions in creativity

Dabbling in such varied materials as clay, paints and paper, art students created many beautiful objects. Under the guiding eye of Mrs. Christoe, students also entered their work in competition to be used to advertise the school musical "Annie Get Your Gun." While art students expressed themselves visually, music classes used sound as a media of communication. Chorus classes, under Mrs. Clayton, and band classes, under Mr. Bawden, placed well in very important competition with other schools.

Exchange of ideas

Expanding the horizons of the student is the goal of the social studies, math, and science departments. One notable fulfillment of this goal was Mr. Singleton's journey to Australia under the auspices of the Rotary Club. He brought back much interesting information about the land "down under."

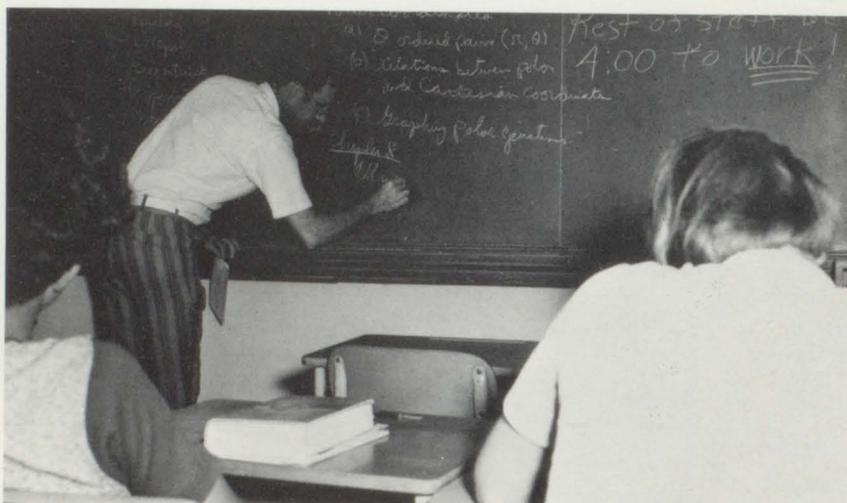

Enabling our students to cope successfully with a technological society is the job of the science and math departments. Everything from dissecting animals to solving complicated math problems characterized this endeavor and brought the students greater awareness of the advances made by the world in the past centuries.

Physical fitness and leadership potential

Physical well-being is just as important, perhaps even more so, than a student's mental well-being. Physical education classes use such enjoyable activities as basketball, baseball, volleyball and field hockey to improve the coordination, alertness, accuracy, and general fitness of each student, girls as well as boys. Also emphasized are such ideals as teamwork and fair play, thus preparing students for adult life in addition to promoting physical fitness. Through health classes proper knowledge is gained of the function and care of the body.

Earning while learning

Earning credits while being trained for a job is the idea behind the highly successful Co-op Program. At school, classroom instruction prepares the participant for his on-the-job phase of the program. While working, he applies his classroom training to his job. The program participant works closely with his employer and his instructor and is evaluated by both.

The students of HHS have made the Co-op program a successful one, as they find that the training they receive will serve them well in future occupations.

Developing practical skills

Collinsville Area Vocational School, launched by the Collinsville school district, provided 52 Highland High School students with an opportunity to learn practical skills for future careers. Every morning students journeyed by bus to Collinsville in order to participate in a variety of subjects ranging from mechanics to ornamental horticulture. While attending two hours of classes at Collinsville High School, each student was earning credits for graduation.

An alternative to college

While many students attended the Area Vocational School at Collinsville, many more took advantage of the opportunities for vocational training offered within the high school. Home Economics classes gave students practical experience in cooking, sewing, and home management. Courses in agriculture and industrial arts were offered for boys wanting a career in these areas. Of interest to both boys and girls were the various business courses, which prepared students for secretarial work after high school. These courses all offered the opportunity for a successful career without a college education.

Fulfilling special needs

Our high school offers many services in addition to our regular classroom courses. The Mobile Instructional Unit, affectionately known as the "while whale," brings films and other materials to supplement the classroom routine. Books, magazines, filmstrips, and reference materials are housed in the library for student use. Also of special interest is the driving safety demonstration presented to the sophomores each year as part of their driver training instruction.

Cathy Anderson and Ronnie Frey listen attentively to Mrs. Collins as she explains a problem to the class.

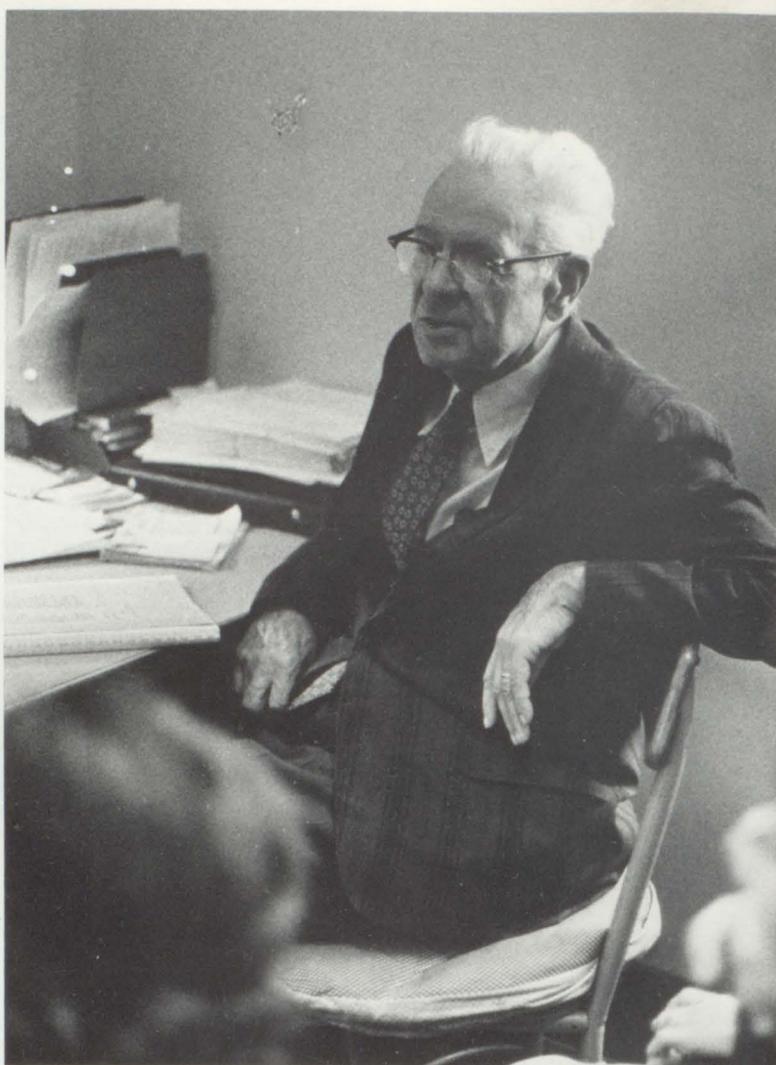

Lynn Braswell looks for a book by using the library's card catalog. (Below) Sophomores watch in interest as the driving demonstration, given each year, gets under way.

Showing concern for others

The guidance department has always been valued as a help to students in solving personal and career problems. This year marks the retirement of one of our guidance counselors, Mr. R. D. Eiler. He is ending a long and successful career which includes 26 years in the Highland school system.

School nurse, Mrs. Jeanne Eardley has the responsibility of attending to the students in case of illness. Feeding those same students is the job of the cafeteria ladies, who prepare delicious and well-balanced meals at a much lower cost than could be found elsewhere. ## Cross Country

C.C. team makes history

Following two year of steady improvement, the '71 squad of "Winged Warriors" became the very first HHS cross country team, and the first Bulldog squad in any sport since 1958, to advance to the State Finals.

After completing their regular season with a 9-3 record for dual and triangular meets, the "underdog" Bulldogs readied themselves for the 14-team Alton District Tourney, where they proceeded to take second place honors. The Highland harriers then advanced to the Sectional Tourney at Jacksonville and made believers of many people by placing third out of 14 teams and advancing to the State Meet. At Peoria, the Bulldogs met the best the state could offer and ran to a 26th place, ending the most successful cross-country campaign Highland has ever known.

Among other feats, HHS added two more trophies to its collection by capturing first place at the nine-team Bunker Hill Invitational, for the second straight year, and grinding to third place in the first annual Highland High Invitational, an 18-team affair run at the Highland Country Club.

In his first spectacular season, Rich Ullman paces the Bulldogs in their first state meet.

(Below) Scoring high in the St. Paul Invitational, harriers Dave Potthast, Randy Foederer, Paul Steiner, Deny Gehrig, John Foederer, and Mark Steiner demonstrate the necessity of teamwork which resulted in this year's success.

Paul earns MVR, Dave voted MIR

Junior Paul Steiner was the top runner on the squad. He streaked to first place finishes in five meets during the season and was the first Bulldog in the "chute" in most of HHS's meets. Because of his achievements, Paul was voted by his teammates as Highland High's Most Valuable Runner.

Next season's crew will be without the help of five seniors, including John Foederer, Mark Steiner, Rick Philippi, Jeff Frey, and Dave Potthast who was named HHS's Most Inspirational Runner by fellow squad members.

Competition as well as teamwork force Mark Steiner and Rick Ullman to battle for key positions in a favorite meet against St. Paul.

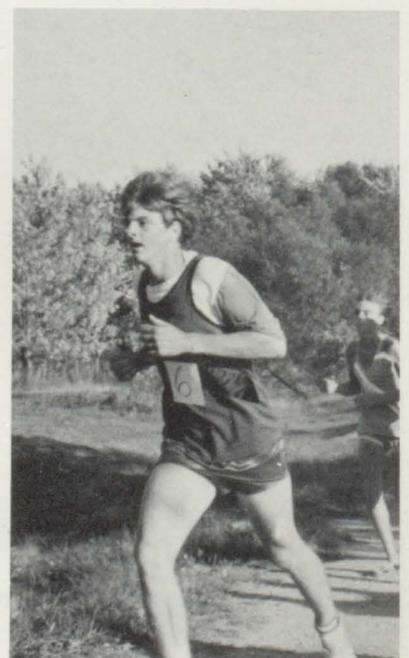

Showing the effort which helped characterize him as an outstanding athlete, Jeff Frey races past an opponent to arrive at his goal.

In his last season, John Foederer '... runs to win the prize ...' in one of his great career-ending races.

Gridders rattle

Switching to the new and strong Mississippi Valley Conference, the Bulldogs attacked the season with the taste of hopeful glory in their blood, but a smaller squad and the tough competition with larger schools proved to be obstacles too great for the "Dogs" to overcome. However, even though they encountered setbacks, the undying spirit of the gridders pushed HHS into a tie for fourth place in the new conference and the achievement of a hard-fought 5-4 record for the year.

Opening the campaign with wins over Gillespie (14-6) and Vandalia (20-0), the hungry Bulldogs were ready for league play, but size and depth were against them. Recovering from battle with powerhouse O'Fallon, HHS got back on the tracks briefly by upsetting Bethalto, 22-20, but was quickly derailed when Wood River and Roxana played the roles of ungrateful guests. The never-say-die Bulldogs then won their second and third league contests, beating Triad, 16-12, and Jerseyville, 20-12, but closed the season on a sour note to Mascoutah.

As HHS's top scorer, Brad Michael attempts to evade all obstacles between the goal and himself.

Football

Prchal ends reign

As pigskin coach much of the credit for the team's fighting spirit goes to Coach Frank Prchal, who led this year's squad to a respectable finish in its baptism into the MVC. In eleven years as HHS football mentor, Coach Prchal brought the Bulldogs through eight winning seasons. His resignation as coach was a blow to Highland athletes and fans alike. He will be sorely missed next year.

Glory for the '71 Bulldogs was hard to come by, and when it did, it came with dirty, sweat-streaked, but smiling faces. Simple, old-fashioned hard work and desire paid off for these Bulldogs chosen to the MVC All-Conference teams:

1st team (off.) — end, Rick Raylor; (def.) safety, Blake Waggoner.

2nd team (def.) — guard, Brad Iberg; linebacker, Jim Bircher.

Hon. Mention (off.) — center, Brad Paoletti; quarterback, Tim Lewis; halfback, Brad Michael; (def.) — end, Mark Gelly; tackle, Bob Bohnenstiehl.

Wrestling

Matmen fight to 10-8-1 record

Following the aggressive tactics of the football team, HHS's gruff, grunting and grueling grapplers battled relentlessly through their tough first year in the MVC. Squaring off the season with three losses, outlooks dimmed for a good season. However, the musclemen regrouped and took their next two matches but were halted by a powerful Belleville West squad in their sixth. Down but not done, HHS forged ahead in a touch-and-go season including a heartbreaking loss to Triad, 29-26, followed by a spirited revenge, curshing the short-lived victors, 42-24.

Size and depth again sided against the Bulldogs in their first MVC Tourney, but the aggressive spirit carried the grapplers into a respectable fourth place and an overall hard-earned 10-8-1 season.

Wrestling

Daiber finishes

For his fourth year on the varsity squad, Lenny Daiber ended his career with a record unequaled by any other wrestler in the history of HHS. Lenny compiled a four-year record of 79-15-1 and this season's top record of 31-2. Lenny also included three firsts in the Mascoutah, Alton, and MVC tournaments, followed by a third in the district tourney.

Another dynamo of the mats, senior Brad Iberg, terminated his high school career with a 29-13 record, HHS's second best. Brad wrestled a 22-7 season and finished second in the MVC and fourth in the district tournaments.

'Dogs bear 3-20 year

Competing in the new Mississippi Valley Conference against schools much larger and stronger, the basketball Bulldogs suffered through a long 3-20 season. HHS was definitely hurt by a lack of height. With the Bulldogs' tallest player measuring 6'2", every team they faced seemed like an army of giants.

After beginning the season with nine consecutive defeats, the Bulldogs then turned in the highlight of their not-so-bright year, a thrilling 50-48 victory over Okawville. At that time, Okawville was ranked the top small school team on the East Side. HHS won two of its next three games, including a 78-73 triumph over Triad, but the sudden momentum quickly lost its speed as ten straight setbacks followed.

Forward Deny Gehrig led his team in scoring, averaging 18.9 points per game. Bulldog center Mark Steiner averaged 12.5 points while pulling down 180 rebounds, and guard Tim Lewis scored at a 10.2 clip.

Basketball

Tourney champs go 17-5

Freshmen basketball provided quite an impressive success story this year. After last season's squad went 16-5, the '71-'72 version achieved even greater heights by earning the first place trophy in the O'Fallon Tourney and finishing with a sparkling 17-5 record.

Coach Weaver's Baby Bulldogs were led in battle by their nearly unstoppable center, Randy Manley. Manley averaged 16.7 points and 13 rebounds a game, while connecting on 51% of his shots from the field. Rangy forward Mike Holzinger scored 13.5 points per contest and made 82% of his free throws. Diminutive guards Rodney Zobrist and Tim Gehrig played the roles of supporting giants as they averaged 13.2 and 10.6 points respectively, with Zobrist doling out 125 assists. The team as a whole scored at the rate of 72 points a game while holding the opposition to less than 60.

Hindered in the early season by a broken arm, Gary Goestenkors came back and is shown making another lay up for two.

A great ball handler, Tim Lewis puts it up while Steve Brendel is ready to assist.

One of HHS's best outside shots, Deny Gehrig leaps with Mark Steiner to recover a loose ball as Randy Foederer awaits the outcome.

Gaining experience for the future, the junior varsity cagers are FRONT ROW: Mgrs. P. Austin and K. Foederer. BACK ROW: C. Siever, K. Gilomen, R. Gelly, J. Bishop, D. Bizer, W. Terrill, B. Harris, B. Bircher, D. Gramlich, M. Bauchens, T. Herzberg, Coach Bill McClain.

Proving themselves as hopefuls for the future, the O'Fallon Freshman Tournament champs are FRONT ROW: Mgr. K. Foederer, B. Schumacher, R. Brave, M. Flemming, G. Houser, T. Gehrig, R. Zobrist, J. Lesicko, R. Goestenkors, K. Horn, B. Lutz. BACK ROW: P. Short, E. Bishop, T. Zeller, J. Conrad, D. Peterson, J. Wheatley, A. Iberg, M. Holzinger, R. Manley, M. Wehrle, D. Athlete of the year

Jeff Frey named best senior athlete

Outstanding in the field of sports are the only words to describe Jeff Frey, Highland High's 1972 Athlete of the Year. Jeff, known by his fellow athletes and coaches as a dedicated hard worker and a leader, easily earned the honor bestowed upon him.

Jeff competed actively in three varsity sports this year. In cross country, Jeff earned his first varsity letter and was seeded fifth on HHS's first State running squad. Basketball, although one of Highland's rougher-going sports, was kept alive by Jeff's tireless efforts to instill the winning spirit in the team. Ending his four-year career in baseball, Jeff led the Bulldogs in hitting with his .361 average and was instrumental in the team's late season surge that included the Regional Tourney crown.

Slugging Bulldogs come back to win Regional crown

Raw and raging power, plus relentless determination, rushed the baseball Bulldogs into HHS's first regional championship since 1958. Following a disappointing early season in which the Bulldogs won only three of their first twelve contests, the sluggers came back and slammed through, winning nine of their last twelve games.

Among their spectacular games was the thrilling 9-8 defeat of Tread for the District crown and later an 11-0 romp over Greenville for HHS's regional win. However, the path to glory was halted by a powerful Alton team which stopped the Bulldogs in a 7-0 heart breaker in the Springfield Sectionals, thus ending a great season for a great team.

Making history for HHS, the regional champs are FRONT ROW: B. Iberg, B. Paoletti, J. Potthast, G. Bargetzi, S. Hundsdorfer, M. Huhn, J. Foederer, M. Huhn. BACK ROW: Coach Steve Ford, R. Gelly, S. Brendel, S. Galbiati, M. Steiner, S. Weiss, M. Young, Bircher, R. Taylor, J. Frey, A. Gordon, Coach Dick Kraft.

Frey, Steiner lead

Individual standouts for the season included Jeff Frey, who led the Bulldogs in hitting with a .361 average, followed by Brad Paoletti who compiled a .329 mark and 16 RBI's. Among the hurlers, top pitcher Mark Steiner finished his season with a 5-5 record, while Rick Taylor totaled three wins in four decisions.

In his first season as varsity coach, Dick Kraft patiently followed his team through its unpredictable season and instilled a spirit of unity into his squad.

Compiling another winning record., the J.V. squad hopes to continue Highland's winning ways next year. Members of the team are

HHS hosts County, District meets

HHS became the showcase of some of the area's largest schools in track and field as the Bulldogs hosted both the Madison County Track Meet and the first Olympic-styled Highland District Track Meet. Many of the state's best competitors were featured in both events with top athletes and coaches alike praising HHS's fine facilities and efficiency in handling the huge tasks.

Although the Bulldogs had no outstanding area achievements, extra effort and quickened pace enabled the thinclads to better four school marks. Mike Seger edged out the classic 100 yd. dash mark with a clocking of 10.2 seconds. Seger also anchored the record-setting 3:36.5 mile relay team whose early effort was put up by Paul Steiner, Brad Michael, and Tom Netzer. Mike Mullenix, in his first and last year as a Bulldog pole vaulter, easily scaled the old mark of 11'6" and established his own record of 12'6". In the enduring two mile run, Dave Potthast lowered his old time by 18.4 seconds, setting a new standard at 10:18.1.

Golf

Linksmen drive to 22-1 record

Control, accuracy, and power were the keys to success as the golf squad streaked to HHS's best season of the lines.

One of Highland's strongest athletic entries, the golf team compiled a 22 and 1 record, finishing second in the District Tourney and advancing to Sectional play at Belleville. The Bulldogs easily won their first seven contests before allowing a 164-175 loss to Edwardsville, the only blemish on their record. In the Highland Invitational the lightening rods blazed to another first, but another bad day caught the 'Dogs as they lost the MVC crown by two strokes to Mascoutah. Determined to go all the way, the team fired a 325 in the Alton district to tie for second and advance to the sectionals. At Belleville, fate again played HHS for the worse as the team finished eighth out of nine teams, thus terminating a successful season.

Fred Ehlke was HHS's top golfer for the second straight year, averaging 38.5 per game. Following him was Rick Rogers with a 40.4 average. Rick also tied for top honors in the Highland Invitational.

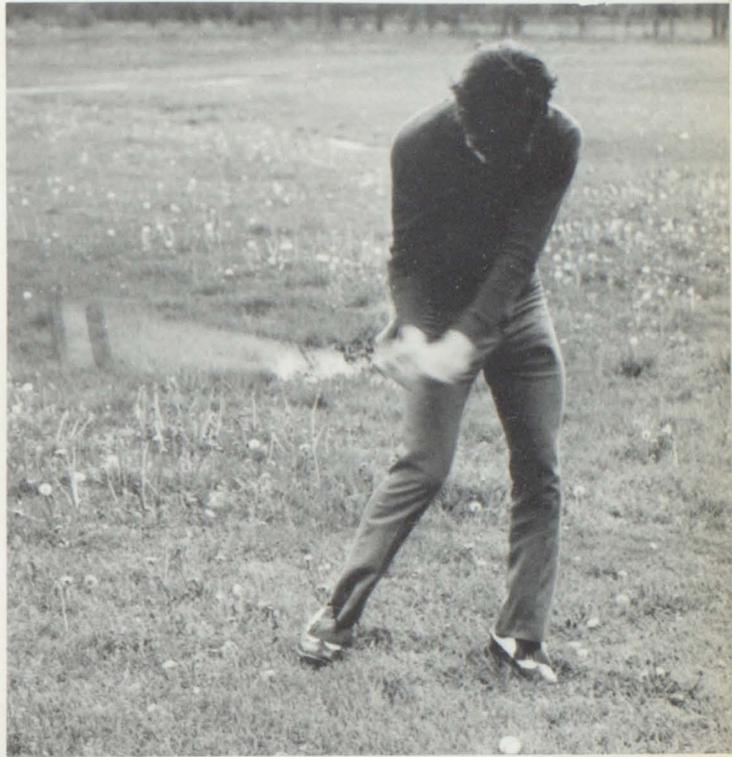

As HHS's No. 2 golfer and medalist in the Highland Invitational Rick Rogers prepares to strike out.

Although Coach Singleton was absent in the early season, the linksmen did equally well under the assistance of Coach Prchal. Members of the squad are J. Stratton, T. Gehrig, F. Elhke, B. Hampton, D. Oberdalloff, G. Heim, Coach Frank Prchal, M. Wehrle, G. Bruning, R. Barker, D. Gehrig, R. Rogers.

Tennis

Klueter and Ulrich to State, netmen go 12-6

Improving steadily during its four years as an interscholastic competitive sport, the tennis team completed by far its most successful season. After terminating the regular season at 12-6, the netmen competed in the first Mississippi Valley Conference Tourney and impressively finished third. Ken Klueter was Highland's only champion in the MVC as he won the No. 3 singles title. Second place honors went to Ron Mueller and Dennis Ulrich in No. 1 doubles.

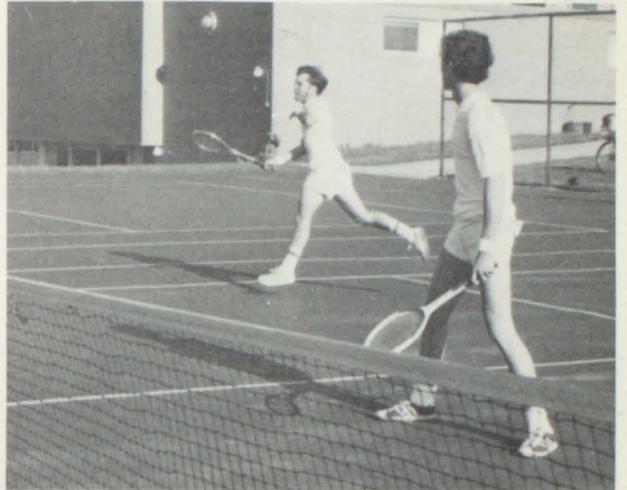

However, glory for the squad did not stop there. Klueter and Ulrich combined their efforts in the doubles competition at the districts and beat all challengers, enabling them to advance to the state contest. Although a tough first round of competition eliminated the duo, Ken and Dennis have made history for HHS and Highland's rapidly growing tennis program.

GAA

Mixed with screams of enthusiasm were sore muscles and tired feet as the Girls Athletic Association participated each season in sports, such as tennis and archery in fall, bowling and basketball in winter, and softball and hiking in spring.

Along with obtaining points for participating in sports, GAA members sold candy to assist in financing their annual three day trip to Black River. A Mother-Daughter Banquet ended the year as winning teams received recognition and new officers were installed.

Officers of GAA are Sec. Carol Spengel, V. Pres. Linda Knabel, Pres. Karla Klueter, and Treas. Cindy Haase.

Pep Club

Echoing onto football fields and basketball courts the familiar chant, "Go You Bulldogs," led by loyal pep club members, fostered school spirit and encouragement to countless team players.

A picnic at the City Lake to indoctrinate new members, started the year rolling. The necessity not to be the last to support your school, became evident as pep clubbers sold buttons, ribbons, and ballons to finance sockhops and buses to basketball games.

Receiving this year's pep club award was Susie SansSoucie, for showing the most school spirit.

Officers of Pep Club are V. Pres. Karla Klueter, Pres. Susie SansSoucie, Treas. Deb Bellm, and Sec. Lois Schmidt.

Band and FHA

For the first time in many years in addition to the Madison County Band Festival and the District Band Festival, band members found themselves participating in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest, where 17 out of 21 entrants received a first rating.

Following tradition, the concert band presented its two standard Christmas and winter concerts but climaxed the year by presenting their first spring pop concert. Combining contemporary rhythms with effective stage lighting, colorful formals, and white tuxedos, the concert provided its audience with an unusual musical experience.

Not only performing on stage, band members added life to numerous area parades and spirit to halftime football games. Members were rewarded for their efforts by a four-day camping trip to Bowling Green, Kentucky.

While some football fans enjoyed the halftime performances of the band, others were lured by the aroma of buttered popcorn, hot chocolate, and carmel apples to the concession stand operated by the Future Homemakers of America.

Putting their homemaking skills in practice, FHA members visited Chastain's Nursing Home, sponsored Daddy Date Night, the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet, and Ma, Pa, and Me Night.

FMCC

As part of their campaign for better health, this spring bright red toothbrushes purchased from Future Medical Career Club members were seen clutched in the hands of HHS students.

Along with showing others the necessity for good health, FMCC familiarized students with varying medical career opportunities.

From the field trip taken to Warren G. Murray Children's Home on April 12th, the tour of St. Joseph's Hospital in May, and the crafts made for the St. Joseph's Hospital Bazaar, members were able to see medical careers in action.

Officers of FMCC are Sec. Brenda Cruthis, Pres. Cindy Haase, V.P. Linda Knabel, and Treas. Janice Wall.

FBLA

With buttons, campaign hats, banners, and posters, eager Future Business Leaders of America members boarded the bus headed for the State Convention. There Jim Houser was elected State Treasurer, Brad Iberg captured third in Junior Accounting, and for the third consecutive year the chapter received the Robert T. Stickler Award for being the third outstanding club in the state. To help finance the trip Tom Watt Sales were held during the month of October. This selling campaign gave members a true feeling of salesmanship.

A most rewarding FBLA activity was winning first place Homecoming float. After receiving this honor, members were truly glad that the long hours spent were successful.

Officers of FBLA and Pres. Cindy Zurliene, Rep. Sherry Gramlich, V.P. Janna Kamm, and Treas. Jim Houser, Sec. Kay Landolt.

Officers of FTA are Pres. René Hundsdorfer, Sec.-Treas. Lois Schmidt, Tutoring Chairman Carolyn Schwartz, and V.P. Jerry Riggs.

FTA and Paw Print

To acquaint prospective teachers with the teaching field, more than 20 Future Teachers of America gave up free periods to serve as tutors in the Highland Elementary Center, and the Junior High School. By helping students with homework and doing other various jobs, the tutors proved very helpful to students. As their students gained now knowledge, FTA members gained a sense of satisfaction and a better understanding of the teaching profession.

Finding articles of interest, drawing cartoons, designing layouts, and typing for publication become important goals as the fifteen newspaper staff reporters hastened to publish another addition of the Paw Print. Being in its second year of publication, the Paw Print again attempted to bridge the communication gap among fellow students.

JCL and Library

Promoting Latin and Roman culture and history, the Junior Classical League participated throughout the year in various projects. The sale of worry beads helped HHS students calm last minute exam jitters. The good luck beads, combined with extensive review, also enabled Ellen Caringer to win a superior rating and John Kesner an excellent rating at the district contest hosted by the local organization on March 4. A field trip to visit the Art Museum in St. Louis brought a close to this year's activities.

While promoting culture is a goal of JCL, service is the major function of the student librarians. During a typical school day, librarians tackle the job of maintaining an organized library for student and faculty use. After endless hours of checking out magazines, returning books to shelves, and creating eye-catching bulletin boards and book marks, the librarians enjoyed their annual trip to St. Louis and scrapbook work night and party in May.

JCL officers are V.P. Charles Eiler, Sec. Linda Hug, Treas. Dee Ann Hamel, and Pres. Paul Steiner.

Student Librarian officers are Sec. Kathryn Henkhaus, Treas. Steve Wilson, V.P. Linda Lange, and Pres. Jane Jakel.

Industrial Education Lettermen

To enable members to view factories in production, the Industrial Education Club took tours through Wicks Organ Company in the fall and the Chevrolet Assembly plant in April. In addition to deepening interest in industrial fields, play nights in the gym and sockhops after basketball games created opportunities for social relations and cooperation between club members and other clubs of HHS.

Anyone lettering in a varsity sport is eligible for membership in the Lettermen's Club. As their primary goal, lettermen strive to promote school spirit and unity among athletes. In carrying out their goals, the lettermen waited on tables at the Highland All-Sports Banquet at Michael's. This became a way of saying thanks to the Bulldog Boosters for their loyal support throughout the year.

Choruses

For the second consecutive year, after seventeen years of absence, in addition to the District 6 Music Festival and Choral Clinic at SIU, chorus students entered in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest and State Organizations Contest. The continual practice of rhythm drills, sight reading, and scales rewarded soloists Lynda Steiner and Donna Falconnier, the duet team of Vicky Klaus and Don Kelly, and the trio of Brenda Hemann, Lisa Robertson, and Vicky Klaus with first place ratings.

Following tradition the chorus presented their annual Christmas and Spring Concerts, delighting audiences as they expressed themselves through song.

Officers of Mixed Chorus are Pres. Karla Klueter, Lib. Vicki Cruthis and Vandora Lebegue, Robe Ch. Jim Rankin, V. Pres. Susie SansSoucie, and Sec.-Treas. Rene Hundsdorfer.

Officers of the Jr.-Sr. Chorus are V. Pres. Deb Stroheide, Pres. Patty Clayton, Sec.-Treas. Lois Schmidt, and Lib. Diana Flemming. Officers of the Soph. Chorus are Lib. Nancy Turner, Pres. Peg Meffert, and Sec.-Treas. Tracy Ambuehl. Officers of Fresh. Chorus are Lib. Kim Burke, V. Pres. Deb Sanders, Sec. Gail Hosto, and Pres. Nancy Beckmann.

The We Six officers are Sec.-Treas. Brenda Hemann and Pres. Vicky Klaus. Modernaires officers are Pres. Don Kelly, Librarian Donna Falconnier, and Sec-Treas. Marsha Hawkins. (Below) Officers of Office Occupations are Pres. Candy Perschbacher, Treas. Janna Kamm, V. Pres. Joy Schumacher, Executive Officer Deb Hug, and Sec. Kay Londolt.

Modernaires - We Six Office occupations

Through the recently formed Modernaires and We Six ensemble groups, select chorus members were offered opportunities to execute musical talents before many appreciative audiences. The We Six, consisting of six sophomore girls, frequently performed for the public including the Southwestern Electric Beauty Pageant, Girl Scout District Council Meeting, and the Senior Citizens Christmas Party. The talents of eight boys and eight girls combined to form the Modernaires.

The Office Occupation Club stems from the recently formed Cooperative Education program. Each member holds a part-time job, in addition to their schoolwork. The club creates communication between members and their employees and provides a better understanding of their job. In addition to selling Christmas cards, attending a banquet at SIU, and visiting the Job Fair in St. Louis, the members found time to enter in the Area Contest. There Joanne Bosche' captured first in Data Processing and Linda Zbinden won first in Duplicating. Linda then advanced to the State Competition where she was again rated first, and then on to the National Contest where she received second.

Distributive Ed. Co-op

For those students with like interests in the field of sales, Distributive Education proves to be a valuable branch of the co-op program. It allows students to apply skills learned in the classroom to jobs preparing them for future vocations. During the year, Distributive Education students visited Anheuser Busch Brewery for a look at the largest marketing firm in the midwest. Also, a shopping expedition turned out to be a learning experience as members journeyed to Northwest Plaza for a marketing research project.

Housing all of the co-op branch groups is the Co-Op Vocational Education Club. As its main function, the club held an Employer Appreciation Banquet for the employers who provided training station for co-op students. This year as entertainment, a hypnotist captured the attention of the fascinated audience and proved to be a rewarding event for employers and employees alike.

Officers of Distributive Education are V.P. Jim Baer, Executive Officer Steve Pacatte, Pres. Bruce Thorley, and Sec.-Treas. Donna Short.

Officers of the Cooperative Vocational Educational Club are Treas. Mary Beth Landolt, V.P. Joy Schumacher, Sec. Kay Landolt, and Pres. Bruce Thorley.

Iris and FCA

In after school hours and on countless summer days, the Iris staff squeezed copy, captions, classes, and clubs onto predesigned layouts. Attempting to cover HHS's activities, the staff members spent many hours setting up and snapping pictures as well as selling subscriptions and advertisements to earn enough money to pay for the publication of the Iris.

By confronting athletes and coaches, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes have brought to the students the challenge and adventure of following Christ, participating in His church and serving Him later in life. Through the formation of the Exegetes and morning prayer meetings youth were given the opportunity to discover and worship Christ together. Collecting funds for the Red Cross and Cancer Drive, the bus trip to a Billy Graham Crusade, the attendance of eight boys to the Branch Rickey Chapter of FCA, and sending of three boys to FCA camp were other FCA activities.

The officers of the FCA are Rep. Bill Bircher, Sec. John Foederer, Co-captain Randy Foederer, Treas. David Potthast, and Captain Rooney Barker.

NHS and FFA

Receiving honors was characteristic of both NHS and FFA during the 1971-72 school year.

Russia, with its varying culture and problems came to life as Bob Hardy of radio station KMOX of St. Louis spoke of his recent trip to the USSR. The all school assembly on February 2 was just one of a variety of service projects performed by members of the National Honor Society. Updating "Chitter Chatter," HHS's school directory, was another undertaking of NHS.

Honors and awards showered upon the Future Farmers of America as Kevin Ambuehl and Gary Goestenkors received the District 5 Foundation Awards; Terry Schrupf, the DeKalb Agriculture Award; and David Rottmann, the John Wessel Memorial Award. Besides earning honors, FFA members, by offering their services to clean up after last fall's windstorm, received praise from grateful area farmers. Closing the year the FFA members, gave a Parent-Son Banquet.

Officers of FFA are Treas. Gary Goestenkors, Sentinel Bob Bohnenstiehl, Reporter Mark Gelly, Sec. Dennis Iberg, Pres. Terry Schrupf, and V. Pres. Rick Taylor.

International Fellowship Student Council

Creating better relations among students is a goal of both International Fellowship and Student Council.

With smiles of welcome International Fellowship members greeted foreign exchange students Ludmilla Olhovich, Manuel Artigas, and Anibal Gordon to HHS. The Faculty Tea on April 12 gave faculty and students the opportunity to view slides of France, taken by recent HHS exchange student Carol Schmitt.

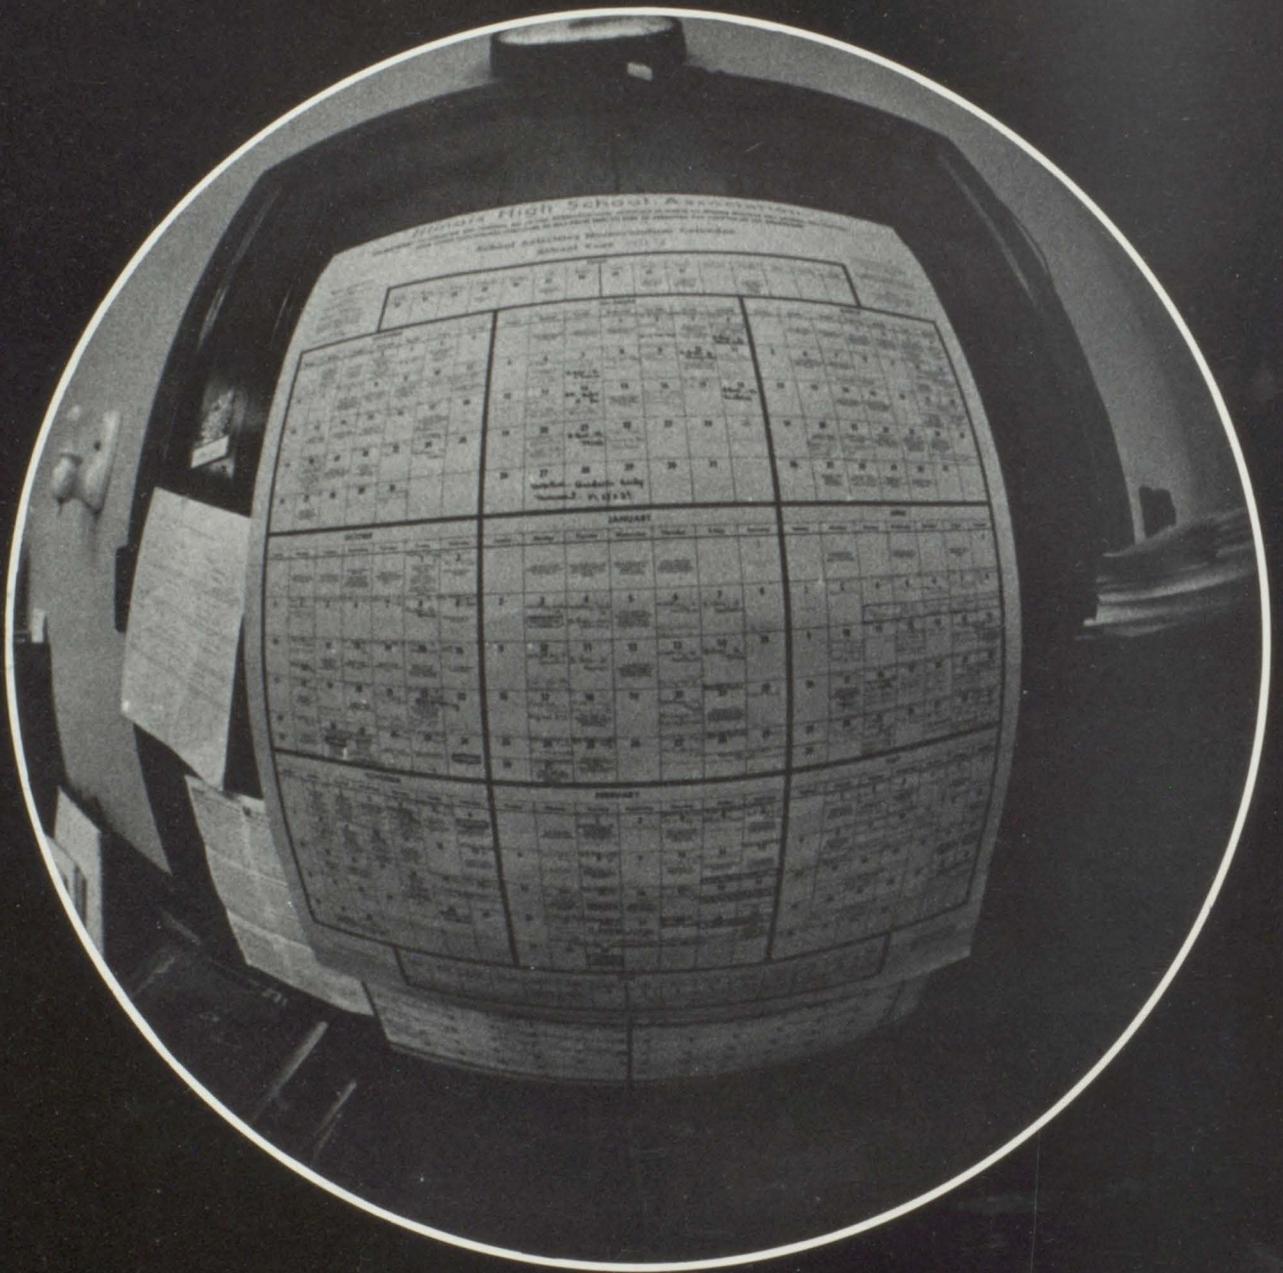

Working to improve student life at HHS, the Student Council sponsored assemblies featuring speakers and entertainers, such as Jim Hart for the Multiple Sclerosis Drive, Mr. Motter, gymnastic artist, and Clifford Guest, the Human Voice Machine. As in the past, the Council also planned and organized homecoming activities, sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Day Dance, and Highlighted Student Council Week with the Mini-Olympics.

Posters, flyers, buttons, and speeches proclaiming campaign promises brought into focus the upcoming Student Council presidential election. Secret voting booths were installed as members urged students to support the candidate of their choice.

Putting it all together

Long-anticipated and eagerly-awaited, the week of October 19 arrived. Hidden throughout the town, once-dreamed visions of floats appeared. Femininity was put aside as girls donned sweatshirts and helmets and became quarterbacks and halfbacks. Noises from the band room suddenly became spirit-raising tunes. The 1972 homecoming was here.

Forgetting the books for one fun-filled week, students spent many long hours fluffing flowers and practicing passes. Thursday night brought the second annual Powder Puff football game. Undaunted by a little rain and mud, the girls provided plenty of action as the determined seniors charged home victorious.

An innocent Gina Paoletti does her part to boost school spirit.

Displaying their determination, these glamorous girls, Dave Potthast, Kevin Austin, Larry Ernst, and John Foederer, kept spirit soaring for the Powder Puff football game, despite the pouring rain.

The drivers, the drummers, and the dreamers . . .

Friday found students lined up behind the band in a spirited march down the halls to the gym for a final pep rally. Outside club and class floats lined up for the annual homecoming parade through the streets of Highland.

That night the action and excitement continued to grow as the fighting Bulldogs met their opponents, the Roxana Shells. Although the Bulldogs were defeated 38 to 12, their spirit was not. Following the game, students danced to the lively music of Bang to finish an exhausting day.

After careful planning, the FBLA "walked away" with first place honors.

The Pep Club proudly "racked up" third place.

Laughing, hoping, working, building . . .

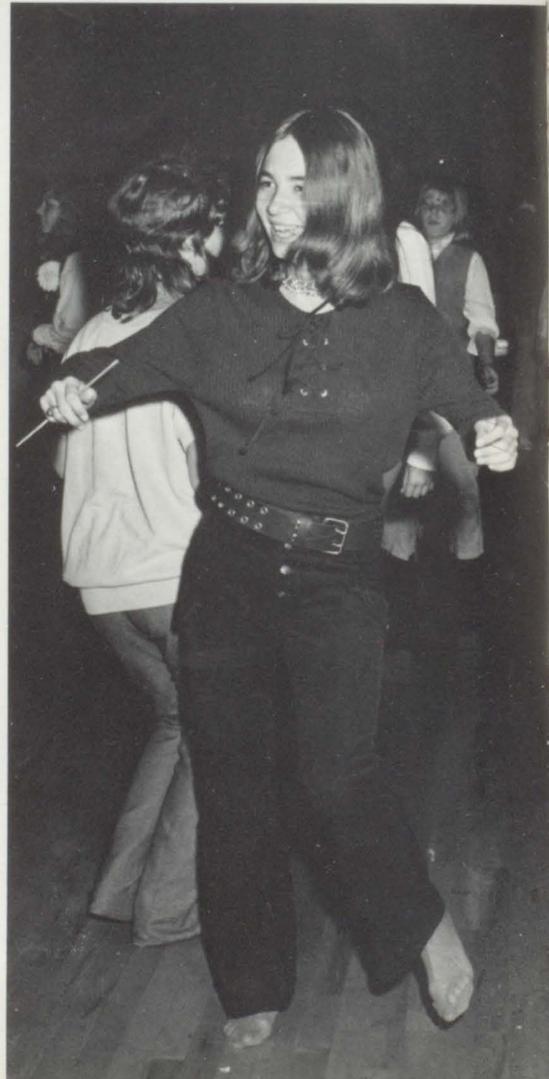

Everybody bring 50 flowers . . . we can't play in the rain . . . hot chocolate, anyone . . . we need 50 more flowers . . . do we have to take off our shoes . . . boy is it cold . . . we need at least a million more flowers . . . go you dogs . . . I ain't makin' no flowers!

By putting a "tiger in their tank", Kevin Austin and the seniors know that the Bulldogs will overpower their opponents.

A time never to forget . . .

A switch from football to formals, the gala coronation became the climax of an exciting homecoming week. Keeping with tradition of soft organ music and twinkling spotlights, the evening was enveloped in majesty. To create an even greater feeling of anticipation, there were no special maids. As the spotlight fell on each girl as she was escorted into the court, the tension mounted. Then M.C. Dave Potthast announced the name of HHS's new reigning royalty. Queen Candy Perschbacher and Special Escort Larry Ernst stepped forward, surrounded with smiles and shouts of congratulations.

As Retiring Queen Deb Kantner and her escort, Steve Lubber welcomed their successors to the honored throne, the 71-72 homecoming came to a cheerful close.

Getting back to the ordinary . . .

Hey, did you do your homework . . . are you kidding . . . boy am I tired . . . take out a sheet of paper . . . do the girls dress in P.E. today . . . what are you taking next year . . . the following people have an overdue library book . . . I think I'm going to quit!

Struggling through a barrier of toilet tissue, Mrs. Bastilla enters her "dull", "ordinary" French class, which her students have decorated for Halloween.

Using a new type of scheduling in which students pulled cards for their classes, Mr. Homann assists juniors Nancy Haller and Maria Gall in selecting their second semester subjects.

Along with Mr. Brafford's help, speech students Susan Hawkins, Sherry Early, and Jeff Frey found library facilities extremely useful in preparing their classroom orations.

Changing the ordinary . . .

Under the direction of Mr. Pat Brafford, members of the junior and senior classes agreed to try something different this year. Instead of presenting one three-act play as in the past, they chose two one-act plays. The plays, The Diary of Adam and Eve and See How They Run offered a unique theatrical experience as well as two unusual views of man.

See How They Run was a reader's theatre play which involved reading from the script and used no scenery or costumes. Members of the audience were forced to supply missing elements through their imaginations. The second play, The Diary of Adam and Eve, was a one-act play which dealt satirically with the fall of man. The production was based on a Mark Twain book.

Trying to cure the winter blahs . . .

There's nothing to do around here . . . hey, how about playing volleyball . . . this music is great . . . can't we have a party in class today . . . hot dogs in the chemistry lab? . . . gee, if I make this free throw maybe I can win a cake . . . I've never laughed so hard in my life . . . if only it would snow . . . we can't have any homework, there's a game tonight . . . I'm glad I came . . . this is really fun!

Uniting in spirit . . .

To stir up school spirit, to instill school pride, and to represent school enthusiasm are the goals of cheerleaders everywhere. HHS boasts a group of girls who fit into this elite group. Through winning seasons and losing seasons, these girls yell, scream, jump, and sweat to keep spirit soaring among students. After attending a summer camp, our Varsity cheerleaders returned eager to help students learn new chants to liven spirit. The exuberance and smile of a cheerleader has long been a tradition at HHS.

Varsity cheerleaders are TOP TO BOTTOM: Theresa Alemond, Kathy Gehrig, Linda Parker, Carol Spengel, Jan Waggoner, Candy Perschbacher and Cherie Steiner.

A living portrait of spirit, Cherie Steiner crosses her fingers, holds her breath, and bites her tongue in a tense moment.

Activities appear in every direction . . .

Would you like an FFA doughnut? . . . only three days till Christmas vacation . . . don't wait up for me, I've got rehearsal tonight . . . won't you please donate a little to fight MS? . . . why don't we have more assemblies . . . do we have to go . . . we've got to sell more musical tickets . . . FFA barnyard? . . . No wonder it smells so bad down there . . . I've got to go to sleep early to-night, I'm going to a speech contest tomorrow . . . can't make it today, I'm just too busy.

The days all seem to be filled ...

What kind of ring are you getting ... seniors shouldn't have to take semester exams ... you mean the yearbook staff missed another deadline? ... chorus practice during homeroom again? ... that man really knows how to play the drums ... nobody told me the VTR crew was going to tape our speeches ... you mean our papers are due Friday of this week? ... oh, there are millions of things to do!

A highlight of the year for sophomores was the ordering of their class rings.

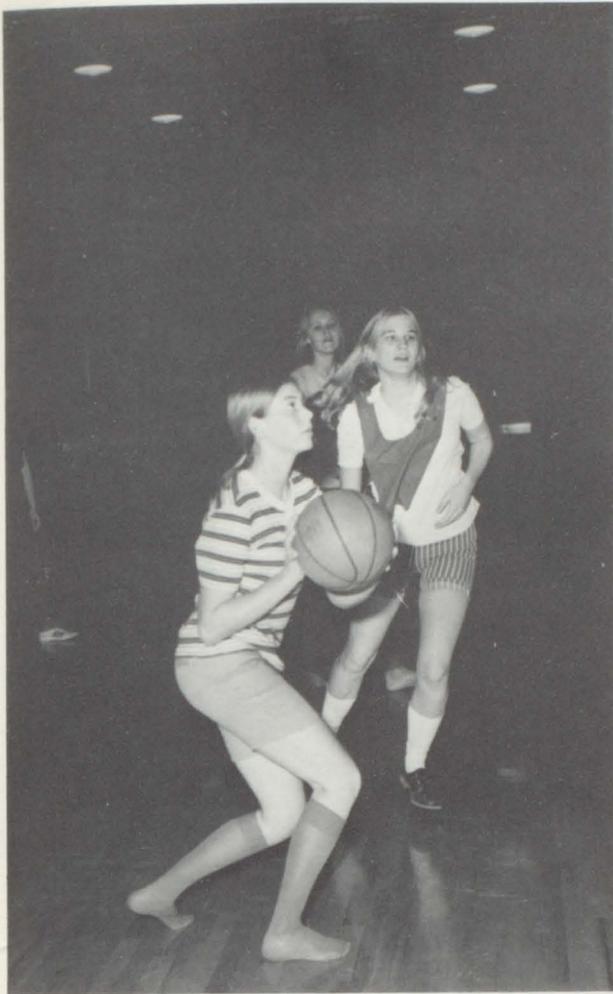

Band members received a welcome break from routine when a noted music expert came to their class to give a drum demonstration. (Right) Iris editors Rooney Barker and Joanne Bosche' spent long hours working to complete the yearbook.

Suddenly, it's opening night . . .

April 6, 7, and 8 were typically untypical days at HHS. An Old West atmosphere hung in the air as cowboys, Indians, and energetic frontier people were transformed from ordinary high school students. The occasion was Annie Get Your Gun, the 5th annual all-school musical. The classic "battle of the sexes" was illustrated in this tale of the famous woman sharpshooter, Annie Oakley, who tried to outshine fellow marksman Frank Butler at the risk of losing his love. The production was enthusiastically received by the public, with full houses and standing ovations each night.

When Annie Oakley (Susie Sanssoucle) meets champion sharpshooter Frank Butler (Rooney Barker), the only thing she can do is stare.

Annie and Frank meet in a shooting match to determine who is the better marksman. Here, Annie tries a fancy shooting trick, to the obvious disgust of her opponent.

Winnie Tate (Gina Storts) and Tommy Keeler (Randy Foederer) had many problems keeping their young romance alive.

Annie befriends Foster Wilson (Jeff Frey), an overworked hotel owner who says he has had his fill of "show people."

Buffalo Bill enthusiastically greets his old friend Pawnee Bill (Mark Huhn), also a Wild West showman and a potential business rival.

Sharing the ups, the downs, the smiles, the tears . . .

Students and teachers alike cooperated in making "Annie Get Your Gun" a model of professionalism. Director Mr. Patrick Brafford explained, coaxed, and even threatened in an effort to turn his charges into true professionals. Mrs. Jeannie Storts provided the vocal direction that resulted in a superbly-harmonizing cast. Intricate dance routines were mastered with the help of choreographer Miss Bobi Brooks, while instrumental direction was the job of Mr. Don Bawden. Their tireless efforts, though resulting in near-mutiny at times from the cast, were ultimately successful.

Three young town girls (Vicki Gilomen, Lynn Nungesser, and Candy Perschbacher) shyly offer a gift to Frank in hopes of making him notice them.

The big finale of the show brought to a climax months of painstaking and ultimately successful efforts on the part of the entire cast and crews.

A lone music book stands as mute symbol of a very successful musical.

Annie proudly introduces her "three charming assistants": Minnie (Lisa Hoette), Jessie (Darlene Frey) and Little Jake (Sam Livingston).

The troublesome Dolly Tate (Kay Sudhoff) engages in one of her frequent arguments with Frank Butler, while Pawnee Bill tries to think of a way to handle the situation.

There's no business like show business . . .

It has been said many times that a musical is only as good as its people behind the scenes. That fact was never more evident than in this year's production. The efforts of the numerous committees involved in the musical played as big a part in making it a success as did the actual performers. Their presence was felt and appreciated by all, especially the sometimes overworked director, Mr. Brafford.

Director Mr. Brafford assumed the responsibility of applying make-up on the main characters.

Nancy Turner puts the finishing touches to Debbie Garner's make-up.

Realistic stage settings were the result of hard work by the scenery construction crew. Make-up and costumes committees completed the transformation of mere students into citizens of the Old West. Excellent work by the ticket and publicity committees resulted in full houses every night, as did the ushers, ticket takers, program committee, and countless others.

Fighting to win the prize

Mini Olympics, a week of excitement, fun, and challenges, found students competing to win points and bring victory and fame to their classes. Sponsored by the Student Council during Student Council Week, April 17-21, the Olympics, for the second year, proved to be highly successful.

Consisting of games of brains and braun, students competed in chess, ping pong, egg throwing, kool-aid drinking, pyramid building, and even a "Little Indy" tricycle race around the gym.

The Student Council sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance in March, where the gals asked the guys, everybody put on his worst bib and tucker, and some joined in the fun of a greased pig contest. By popular vote, Deb Hug and Mike Huhn came home with the coveted title of Daisy Mae and Lil' Abner.

Seniors tried their best to stack up a few points in the pyramid building contest.

Spring Adds her touch

Silvery whiteness of the Awesome Artic, glowing orange-golds of Lively Mexico, blushing pinks and yellows of the Mystic Orient, and cool greens and orchids of the Romantic South Seas — such colors created the atmosphere for the Jr-Sr Prom, "Four Corners of the World," presented by the Junior Class on April 29, 1972.

Couples danced to music of the Illinois Power. Eleven o'clock brought an end to the mystical illusion and hungry participants departed to various places for a late evening supper.

Festivities resumed at 2:00 a.m. as prom goers returned to view "Wild in the Streets," shown at the Lory Theatre. Afterwards, breakfast was served at the ballroom to a smattering of sleepy-eyed couples.

With a song in the air . . .

Whether it be a transistor radio or a fine-crafted violin, music is a very important part to every life. HHS is proud of its two "cultured" organizations — the band and the chorus.

Under the direction of Mr. Don Bawden, the HHS band is a versatile group. It boasts a fine marching band that participates in many parades and presents many unique half time shows. Winter brings out the spirited pep band and the pit band. A spring pop concert became a new experience as the concert band ended its year.

Chorus presents another form of music at HHS. Under the direction of Mrs. Marjory Clayton, chorus members find themselves involved in all kinds of music. Because the chorus is so large, it is divided into smaller groups. The Modernaires, the mixed chorus, the boys' chorus and the girls' chorus, and the We Six are only a few. After much work, the chorus presented perfected concerts.

(Below) A first for HHS was a Spring Pop Concert presented by the High-school Concert Band.

Getting away from it all . . .

Can we go on a field trip? . . . let's skip school today . . . you going on the GAA hike? . . . fishing? during biology class? . . . why do we have to have homework? . . . we gotta have a party or we'll go crazy . . . how about having class outside today? . . . we can't have a test today! . . . you know what they say about all work and no play . . .

Together until . . .

Graduation? June 1? I'm not ready yet . . . I hope it doesn't rain . . . how long is practice going to last? . . . ceremonies begin at 8:00, but everybody should meet at school at 7:30 . . . what are you doing after graduation? . . . how do you get this cap on? . . . I just know I'm going to goof up in front of everybody . . . we're finally finishing four years of high school . . . I'm going to miss all my friends . . . it's all gone by too fast! . . . thank goodness — it's over!

GRADUATES KNOW —

"Happiness is a good report card" But after Graduation, who is going to give you "grades" to measure your achievements?

You will be on your own and must assume the responsibility for budgeting your time and money to become a successful adult.

If you are thinking of college, and finances are a problem, The Farmers and Merchants Bank can help you with a low cost college loan.

In the meantime "Congratulations!"

A year of defeats . . . a year of triumphs . . . a year of the mob
. . . a year of the individual . . . a year of tradition . . . a year of change . . . a year we'll always remember . . .

it was our year.
