This year the senior class dedicates the yearbook to Sister Augusta. Sister has been principal of St. Paul during our four years. She has filled the positions of teacher and principal, giving us both knowledge and guidance.

Sister Augusta’s dedication to her vocation has inspired us to commit ourselves to a vocation that will be important to us in our lives.

Also, we are thankful for her friendship, which is so welcomed in time of stress.

Sister Augusta has helped us in our search for meaning in our lives. We appreciate her assistance and we are happy to present her with this permanent remembrance of our gratitude.

BELOW - the board poses for the yearbook photographer. After consulting the faculty, the board decided to give the school a taperecorder.
YCS got off to a slow start in the fall, but the board managed to improve the spirit and cooperation as time went on. The Donkey Raffle went over big and those at the nursing home appreciated the favors prepared on St. Patrick's day.

The philosophy of St. Paul High School is to create educated Christian men and women. Other pages have been set aside for the various activities, the teachers and the students. These two pages are dedicated to the spiritual side of life at St. Paul.

The school year began in August with the Mass of the Holy Spirit. From that time on special masses have been held on a number of occasions: Peace Mass on Moratorium Day (btm. 1 and r); Mass of Thanksgiving (Opp. p. 1); Christmas Mass; Earth Day Mass at Lakeland; and finally, Graduation Mass.

Added variations contributed much to the meaning of these masses. Few will forget Kathy Hentz' offering of the flag or Den Keeven's walking down the aisle with a shotgun.

In addition to daily and special masses, days of recollection were held on March 24 and 25. Fr. Olker (btm. ctr.) worked with the seniors and juniors while Fr. Frecker handled the underclassmen the next day. Students were afforded the opportunity to look within themselves and to analyze their involvement with their fellow man, to see if Christianity was meaningful to their lives. The first step to world peace is peace within one's own community.

RECIPE: How to make a basketball free-for-all. Start with twenty-five underclassmen. Add five basketballs. Place in a small gymnasium and stand back.

Physical inactivity usually characterizes a girl's everyday life. GAA attempts to stimulate interest in sports and other physical activities. It's a big job and at times a person is prone to thinking there's not much hope for the girls. But then an issue such as taking showers causes the girls to get all worked up about physical activity, and they eagerly engage in discussions on what to do about the problem.

Mr. Irresistible, Dan Koishor, and Miss Stuck-up, Kay Fergesen, grace their throne during the Valentines Day Dance.

T. Sannes makes a layup to score 2 points for the Seniors.

What is it like to be physically fit? Ask a student this question during intramural week and he will tell you he doesn’t know. All he knows is that he wishes he was.

Intramural week was a fun week which included basketball, volleyball and hockey. Competition was keen, but in the end the seniors proved they were the most skillful.
Mr. Fischer and Mr. Bellm are two non-elected members of the school board. Other non-elected members include Fr. Ossola, Fr. Spriggs, Sister Augusta and Sister Rose Marie.

Community Relations

Mr. Ed Frisse and Mr. Ed Kuhl are two of three elected members of the school board. Not pictured is Mr. Don Tschanen, Pres.
Mark Frisse congratulates the top MS solicitors, Debbie Scott and Jeanne Capelle.

It is important for the student to develop a sense of community responsibility so that when he graduates he may continue to be a person who contributes to the betterment of his community.

Contact with the community comes through civic organizations and participation in civic events. Students learn the value of good citizenship by contact with good citizens. St. Paul High is always grateful for interest shown in its students by leaders of the community.

Trash - A collector's item?
To the Freshmen four years appears long. But to the Seniors four years have seemed altogether too short. The receiving of the class rings represents the beginning of the end for the seniors. Shortly they will graduate and advance into new phases in life: some to college; some to military service; and others to jobs and job training. The rings are a lasting remembrance to seniors of their memorable years in high school and of the people, places, and events encountered during those years.
In this year's initiation the devious Seniors came up with some unusual trials and tribulations; but, the brave Freshmen proved deserving to be called Students of St. Paul. The laughs and smiles of initiation are ones of "loving humor." The laughs and smiles are not only from Upperclassmen but, as you can see, shared also by the courageous Freshmen.

Theme Dance

Work, fun, and excitement best described this year's annual Theme Dance, "Land of Oz." Although much work had to be done on planning and construction it was well worth the effort for the results were breathtaking. The yellow brick road, the scarecrow, the tin man, and the wizard himself, created a gay festive mood that helped to make the evening such a success.

Diane Rinderer and Jim Hill find the wishing well an attractive spot for a moment of reflection.

The Fickle Finger of Fate award went to the Seniors. Sr. Geraldine accepted the prize.

Mr. Nicotine Fit, Denny Keeven, receives his award from Kay Fergesen and Ken Wilhelm.
Senior Fund-Raising

Everyone lends a hand at cleaning up after the dinners.

Mr. Nalefski, Mrs. Donelly, Mrs. Rinderer and Mrs. Hentz are some of the expert cooks that helped fry chicken.

This prize was raffled during the spring carnival.

The senior class worked hard this year serving dinners, sponsoring a carnival, selling candy as well as having many other activities. The purpose for having all these activities was to raise money for the class trip to New York City and Washington, D.C.
Senior Personalities

Betty Crocker Homemaker, Jeannine Heim shows her skill at baking. How about some cake or coffee?

Sue Klaus and Jan Donnelly found that being school reporters could be a sticky business.
