Dear Graduates,

When I came to Highland in 1943, you were in the first grade, young in years and learning. Twelve years have passed, and you have persevered and now you will soon be going up the aisle of your church to receive the highest honor of your school.

You graduates represent many years of loving sacrifice on the part of your parents. Your first gratitude should be to them. You also represent years of patient training on the part of the School Sisters of Notre Dame. You should have a deep and abiding gratitude to those who have consecrated their lives to prepare you to live here and hereafter.

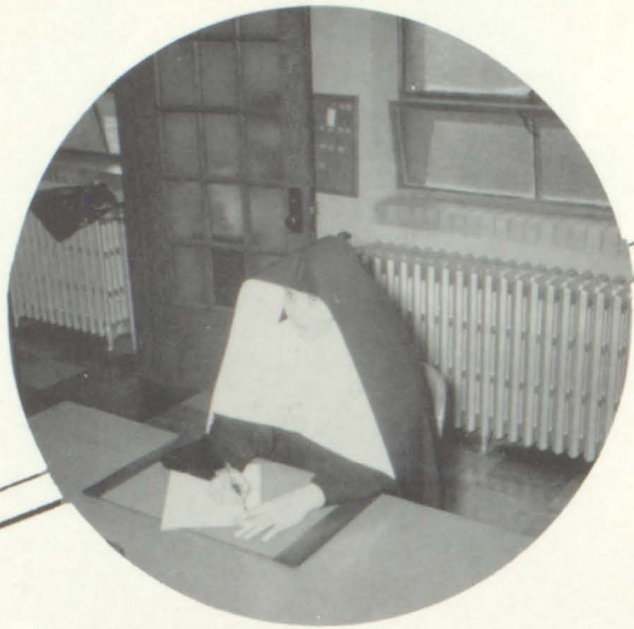

Your parents, your teachers, your priests now have a right to expect that you brighten the little part of the world in which you will live with the learning of Christian principles of justice, integrity and truth. Adopt these principles and hold fast. Although the world is hard and calloused, it respects men and women of character and principle.

Good luck to you. You carry into the world the honor of your parents, your teachers and your school.

May God always love you and may the Blessed Mother hover ever near you.

Father Whalen

Dear Graduates,

You, the graduates of nineteen fifty-five, are the twenty-fifth class to leave the loved halls of St. Paul High. You, like all previous graduates, have spent four years under the special guidance and protection of the Blessed Mother and St. Paul.

May you leave these halls with the zeal, courage and faith of St. Paul plus the simplicity, humility and motherliness of our dear Immaculate Heart of Mary. With these qualifications you will be leaders for good wherever you go.

Be like Mary and St. Paul: pure in heart, mind, and lips. Be like them: kind, considerate, and thoughtful. Be like them: brave to do the will of God - no matter what the cost.

Then, when your LIFE'S COMMENCEMENT DAY has come, and you meet Mary's Son face to face, and hear His blessed voice: "Come!" Our Lady Herself with St. Paul will welcome you HOME for all eternity.

Signed: Sister M. Henrice S.S.N.D.

Principal.

A black and white illustration of the Virgin Mary in prayer. She is depicted from the waist up, wearing a long, flowing robe and a head covering. Her hands are clasped in prayer at her chest, and her eyes are closed. Above her head is a halo. Above the halo, a dove with outstretched wings is positioned at the top center. Below the dove, two hands are shown, one on each side, with fingers spread. A row of seven stars is positioned between the hands and the halo. The background is a dark, textured grey.
